M.P.'S VOTE ON BILINGUAL BANK NOTES

Premier King, When H. J. Barber Opposes English-French Bills for Bank of Canada, Welcomes Opportunity for Majority in House to Declare Views

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 16.—When H. J. Barber, Conservative, Fraser Valley, B.C., in the Commons this afternoon opposed the clause of the Bank of Canada Bill providing for bilingual notes and moved that the measure be sent back to committee of the whole House to have the clause deleted, Premier King supported the note provision, saying: "Very well; we will have a decision and we will soon see where the majority stands."

The test came during debate on third reading of the bill. Mr. Barber said there had been no protest against the present system of printing the notes separately in French and English. That operation had cost $29,000. It would cost a similar amount to make the change, Mr. Barber said, while the great interest of the people was to have an opportunity of earning a dollar regardless of the language in which it was printed.

QUOTES PROTESTS

There was nowhere in the world a more tolerant people than the English speaking people of Canada, Mr. Barber said, but there had been occasions when they had protested against French language use, such as on the radio.

In creating bilingual currency the government was taking a step, Mr. Barber said, that would threaten amicable relations between the French and English speaking people of Canada. There was nothing in the constitution to require bilingual rates.

MAJORITY'S WISHES
Prime Minister King said it was wrong to assume because the majority of the Canadian people were English-speaking that majority did not wish to be fair to the French-speaking minority. There was no more evidence that the majority of the English-speaking people wanted all money in English than there was a majority of the French-speaking people wanted all money in French.

Neither Mr. Barber nor St. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, could claim to speak for the majority of the people of Canada. The people had elected their representatives in parliament and the majority of the English-speaking representatives were in favor of bilingual money.

"No," shouted some Conservatives. "Very well," said Mr. King, "we will have a decision on this question and we will soon see where the majority stands."

FREEDOM OF CHOICE

Mr. Bennett had spoken about freedom of choice in public documents printed in either language. There could be no freedom of choice if money was printed all in French and all in English. An English-speaking person could not refuse a French bill tendered in payment of a debt nor vice versa. The only sensible and fair way to put both languages on all bills.

Mr. King objected to Mr. Barber's statement English-speaking Canadians had tolerated the French language. He might as well have said they tolerated French members of Parliament. They were not tolerated. They were there by right as Canadian citizens.

If all members of French descent refrained from voting on the question the majority of the English-speaking members would vote in favor of bilingual money. The division would show how the majority of the English-speaking members felt he said.

Temiscouata, Que., Liberal Tells Commons Papers Concerning Government-backed C.P.R. Loan Missing

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 16.—Parliamentary circles speculated today on the next development in the revived argument between Jean Francois Pouliot, Liberal, Temiscouata, Que., and St. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, over a government guarantee three years ago of a $60,000,000 loan to the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The incident was believed closed several weeks ago when the tempestuous French-Canadian member after a lengthy absence from the House returned an assertion Mr. Bennett had approved the loan by letter without consulting cabinet colleagues.

It was revived yesterday evening, however, when Mr. Pouliot charged papers referring to it had vanished. Mr. Bennett promised an extensive statement today.

"I hope that some document which is a state paper just as much as any paper can be the guarantee of $60,000,000 on behalf of the Dominion Government, will, either as an exact copy or a carbon copy, remain on file," Mr. Pouliot said.

SESSION NEARS END AT OTTAWA

Prorogation May Come Thursday Or Friday, Says Committee Chairman

Ottawa, June 16.—Chairman W. G. Weil of the Commons agriculture committee told that body this forenoon Parliament would probably be prorogued this week, perhaps Thursday or Friday.

The Macdonald, Manitoba, Liberal made the statement during remarks in which he said he thought it advisable the committee prepare a report for presentation to the House tomorrow.

For several weeks the committee has been studying the farm machinery industry to ascertain whether prices charged Canadian farmers for machinery are fair.

The present session was opened February 6.

As the Commons members assembled this afternoon they had before them several government measures, including the bill affecting government control of the Bank of Canada, up for third reading.

Yesterday the House made unusual progress, with six bills sent to the Senate. The only contentious bill remaining on the order paper is the one repealing Section 96 of the Criminal Code.

Five Hikers' Appeals Heard

Canadian Press

Regina, June 16.—Appeals against the conviction of five On-to-Ottawa trekkers were abandoned today by P. G. Makaroff, K.C., trekkers' counsel, in the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal.

But appeals against the sentences were proceeded with and were finished by noon. The decisions were to be given out by the appeal judges later.

These five appeals concern: John Gallinger, sentenced to eight months; Kellett Cole, nine months; Fred Nogami, ten months; Jack Kyle, seven months and Jack Forsyth, six months.

Appeals for three other trekkers—Jack Wedin, Sidney Stevens and Joe Mottl, were dismissed.

FLOOD OF U.S. BONUS BONDS AND CHEQUES

The issuing and paying of the war veterans' bonus, now in progress, is the greatest transaction of its kind in the history of the United States, a total of $1,650,000,000 being involved. Treasury department officials, with their regular staffs and thousands of temporary employees, have been kept busy at Washington. At the left is shown G. P. Allen, Treasury disbursing officer, as he worked an automatic machine which signed his name to fifteen cheques with one operation. At the right is shown one of the throng of busily engaged clerks as she put the bonds in envelopes for mailing to the thousands of fortunate veterans. Incidentally the $1,650,000,000 raises the national debt of the United States to an all-time high of $34,400,000,000.

U.S. Veterans Here Receiving Bonuses

Amounts From $200 to $790 in Mail For Soldiers Now Resident in Victoria; Brothers to Get $1,200

Several ex-soldiers now living in Victoria, who served with the United States forces overseas, came to town this morning with happy faces after the mail man had arrived. For some of them the postman left certificates for amounts ranging from $200 to $790.50, the first of the U.S. veterans' bonuses to arrive here.

One jubilant veteran came to The Times newsroom to tell of his good fortune, and in his hand he waved a colorfully printed certificate which was to mean $675 to him when he made application at Washington.

GETS THE MAXIMUM
Not far from The Times office is another veteran of the U.S. army who is awaiting daily the arrival of his certificate for $790.50, the maximum amount which is being given out under the present distribution. His brother will receive about $600.

They are not quite sure just what they will do with the windfalls, but the first says one of the first things he will do will be to take a vacation for the first time in four years.

DODGING SALESMEN
Down Fort Street is another veteran who will come in for a share. "I'm getting a few hundred," he admitted, but would not specify the amount. "You must think I want all the salesmen in the country after me," he added.

The certificates are printed on green forms with the United States insignia on the top. They are backed with an orange border. The face of the document sets out the service and personal references of the beneficiary and there is also a table of loan values on the certificate.

R.C. WILL BENEFIT
B.C. can expect to reap some benefit from bonus payments to U.S. war veterans being made today, according to Major Gordon Smith, director of publicity for the provincial government. Just back from a trip south, Major Smith said in the three western states the bonus payments would total $175,000,000, part of which will undoubtedly be spent on travel.

Standard Oil Company Expects to Spend $25,000 on Plant in Harbor

The Standard Oil Company of British Columbia Ltd. advanced a step closer to the establishment of a $25,000 distribution plant on the old Pioneer Sand and Gravel Company property in the Inner Harbor yesterday evening when the City Council voiced no opposition to its application for a water lot on that location.

Yesterday D. E. Bell, construction manager for the company, announced plans were prepared for a general distribution centre. Construction would include a wharf, garage, warehouse, storage tanks and other structures required for loading and storing their products for marine and land consumption.

When complete approval of the company's application for the water lot has been secured tenders will be sought for construction.

Troops Called In Belgium

Public Services Protected As Strikers' Total Nears 200,000

Associated Press

Brussels, June 16.—Belgian troops were ordered mobilized today to protect public services as the ranks of striking workmen neared 200,000.

The governor of the fortified city of Liege, where first clashes occurred yesterday, prohibited assemblies on the streets.

A panic-stricken public, faced with shutdown of stores and shops, rushed to purchase necessary provisions before all commerce was suspended.

Overnight the strike movement was joined by more than 20,000 workmen. Their demands are, in almost all instances, for higher wages.

Miners at Limburg and Charleroi were expected to walk out.

RIVER MEN IDLE
New strikers, among river boat crews joined dockworkers who went out several weeks ago. Shoemakers at Liege voted to join the movement.

The government's action came on the heels of the disorder at Liege last night when 300 strikers fought with police. Seven persons were injured. The strikers sought to close a large store.

Another outbreak was reported in the suburb of Rocourt, outside Liege, where three policemen were wounded by bullets as they protected railroad strike-breakers from works' delegations.

Minor incidents were reported in Antwerp.

San Francisco Elephant Kills Man

Zoo Animal Goes Wild and Gores Keeper as Lions Roar and Tigers Snarl

Associated Press

San Francisco, June 16.—"Trumpeting wildly, a six-ton bull elephant attacked and gored its keeper, Edward Brown, forty-five, to death at the Fleishacker Zoo here today.

Fellow zoo attendants made futile attempts to prevent the enraged beast from thrashing its single, four-foot tusk into its victim.

The elephant, "Wallie," went wild while Brown was leading him into a narrow corral after his morning bath. Four female elephants had been separated from the big pachyderm. The sudden attack set cages lions roaring, tigers snarling and other animals making weird outcries.

Authorities in North Move to Put End to Students' Anti-Japanese Demonstrations; Nanking Reports Brighter Hopes of Peaceful Settlement With Canton, Which Wants United Front Against Japanese Aggression

Associated Press

Shanghai, June 16.—Gunboats of four nations brought a feeling of security today in the troubled south China situation.

Five warships—two British, one United States, one Chinese and one Japanese—waited in the harbor here for developments in the Canton government's effort to stimulate united Chinese action against alleged Japanese invaders.

ITALY DENIES AGGRESSION

Memorandum on Ethiopian War Prepared For League Assembly Session

Rome, June 16.—Italy once again formally will deny the charge of aggression in Ethiopia brought against her by the League of Nations when the League Assembly meets June 30, it was indicated here today.

Although Italy will not be represented at the session, informed quarters said a memorandum will be presented renewing the contention the Italo-Ethiopian war was caused by Ethiopian threats to Italian colonial frontiers.

Italy will make formal recognition of its new conquests the price of renewed Italian collaboration in European affairs, it was indicated by government spokesmen, but will look for this recognition along indirect channels rather than demand a formal announcement of it at Geneva.

CONFERENCE HELD
Nanking, June 16.—Methods to prevent outbreak of a Chinese civil war were being discussed today "somewhere" in southern Hunan province, military authorities disclosed. Representatives of the Nanking (Central) government and the Canton (South) government were reported seeking a settlement of Canton demands for united Chinese action against the Japanese.

Officials at Nanking considered peace prospects between the two Chinese governments generally brightening.

ONTARIO BANK BANDITS ARE PUT TO ROUT

Manager at Russell Victorious in Revolver Battle When Hold-up Attempted By Two Outlaws

Canadian Press

Russell, Ont., June 16.—Two masked and armed bandits who attempted to hold up the Bank of Nova Scotia branch here today were put to rout after a spectacular gun battle with Manager C. H. Stewart, in which the latter emerged victorious. Russell is twenty-eight miles south-east of Ottawa.

No one was hurt in the exchange of shots, but Mr. Stewart believes two of his shots went into the bandits car as it sped towards Cumberland, eighteen miles distant, on the Montreal highway.

During the noon-hour lull two young men emerged from a car carrying United States license plates, quickly entered the bank and told the employees and two customers, "Stick 'em up, this is a holdup."

MANAGER SURPRISED
When Manager C. H. Stewart looked through his door he was greeted by a levelled revolver and a command to "stay still, this is a holdup."

"As soon as I saw the levelled pistol," Mr. Stewart afterward said, "I ducked back into my office and grabbed my revolver and stepped back into the rotunda of the bank. I don't know who started shooting, but suddenly I heard a roar and the bullets were flying. One of the bandits' bullets hit the wall close to me and the first thing I knew I was bleeding away and letting him have it. After the first couple of shots they made a wild dive for the door, leaped into their car and sped east."

Then the four females charged on Bjork and drove him away.

Robert Cleary, another elephant man, hurried up and called to the enraged animal. It turned its massive head and gazed angrily at Cleary, but finally answered his repeated summons, lumbering to a corner where Cleary chained it.

The elephant's trunk, head and legs were spattered with blood.

Other animals were so restless that the zoo was ordered closed for the day.

Rudolph Bjork, another keeper, afterwards told of the fatal attack.

"I don't know whether Wallie knocked Brown down with his tusk or trunk," he said. "He bowled the man over and stepped on his body with his left front foot and then gored him with the single tusk."

"I ran to the enclosure, which is separated from the regular paddock by steel rails. I had a five-foot stick and tried to drive the bull away from Brown's prostrate body."

letters. In fact the few letters that were signed by the then Minister of Finance are still there, but they were signed after the order-in-council was passed, late in the fall. Therefore, sir, to be practical I am sure that every minister will make a distinction between the confidential and the state papers.

NO TRACE FOUND

"Here we have state papers which are therefore official and public and they have vanished; it is impossible to get any trace of them. In England the thing would be decided by a court. In Canada we are more lenient. I cannot understand how such papers could have disappeared. It is impossible to find a trace of this document to which I refer, and the only copy which is on record in the Prime Minister's office is a carbon copy of that famous and unforgettable letter. It is a copy of a return which has been tabled in this House."

SAYS ALL PRINTED

The Conservative leader said all the documents were printed in the report of the banking and commerce committee last year. The reason for the order-in-council not being passed until the fall was because the C.P.R. president went to England in the summer to obtain consent of British authorities to sell debenture stock on the market there. Their permission was not forthcoming. The letter itself would be in the hands of the

ASKS LIBEL ON RASPUTIN BOOK

Associated Press

New York, June 16.—The ghost of Rasputin, the priest supposed to have wielded such insidious influence over the House of Romanoff during its last years, was revived in state supreme court today at the start of a $100,000 libel suit.

The suit brought by Sergius Truandoff, former Greek Orthodox monk known as Eliadore, names the Viking Press and Renee Pulop-Miller as defendants for portions of Pulop-Miller's book "Rasputin, The Holy Devil," published in 1928.

Eliadore's counsel opened his case by charging the book depicted his client as "a forger, a seducer and a filthy-mouthed, vicious, disreputable person."

Eliadore's charges were denied categorically by opposing counsel, who declared all facts in the book were true and authenticated.

Labor Board's Control Vetoed

New Orleans, June 16.—The United States fifth circuit court of appeals yesterday denied the right of the national labor relations board to regulate the relation of employer and employee in production or manufacture.

The court, in a unanimous opinion, denied the petition of the labor relations board to enforce an order of the board which would require the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, organized under the laws of Pennsylvania, to reinstate certain employees who claimed they had been dismissed because of organized labor activities at the company's plant at Alliquippa, Pa.

The court's opinion stated: "The board has no jurisdiction over a labor dispute between employer and employee touching the discharge of laborers in a steel plant, who were only engaged in manufacture."

"The constitution does not vest in the federal government the power to regulate the relation as such of employer and employee in production and manufacture."

MINNESOTA NOMINATION

St. Paul, Minn., June 16 (Associated Press).—Governor Floyd B. Olson, self-styled "radical" and champion of public ownership, gathered 42,978 votes in 744 of the state's 9,784 precincts to only 2,784 for the comparatively little-known Carl Taylor.

Labor Slaying in Tennessee
Lashed By Gang

Associated Press
Memphis, Tenn., June 16.—A prominent young Memphis woman charged today she and a Presbyterian minister were flogged last night near Earle, Ark., where they had gone to investigate a rumored slaying in a cotton strike.

Miss Willie Sue Blagden, twenty-three-year-old member of a prominent Memphis family and sister of George Blagden, frequent competitor in Toronto marathon swims, told officers she and Rev. Claude Williams of Little Rock were beaten by a band of men when they refused to reveal the name of the man they had gone to interview.

CLERGYMAN DISAPPEARS

Miss Blagden said she was struck four times across the back and thighs with a heavy leather strap studded with brass and that her companion was lashed fourteen times.

After the flogging, she asserted, she was put on a train for Memphis and she did not know what had become of the clergyman, identified by her as a member of the Religion and Labor Foundation.

A doctor said he had examined Miss Blagden and found three bruises about five inches wide across her back and thighs.

Sheriff Howard Curren of Crittenden County promised an investigation of the affair today.

Investment Dealers Hear
M. F. Wardhaugh, Vancouver, on Debt Reduction

Jasper, Alta., June 16.—Expert study and co-operation with bondholders in any readjustment of municipal and civic financing was urged here today by M. F. Wardhaugh of Vancouver, vice-president, in an address before delegates attending the annual convention of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada.

"Some of our municipalities appear to be in difficulties to a greater or lesser degree," the Pacific Coast district chairman said. "These cases call for expert study and sympathetic consideration. Any attempt, however, to take advantage of conditions by arbitrarily reducing debt obligations without proven cause was not in order."

CONFIDENCE NEEDED

"In various parts of the country there has been a tendency to view contractual obligations lightly. This attitude strikes at the very foundation of business in that it destroys confidence as the basis on which all business and credit is founded."

In a review of financial problems affecting British Columbia, he detailed three proposals advanced by the city of Vancouver for alleviation of interest on its bonded debt. These, he said, were to be discussed at a forthcoming meeting between the city council and bondholders.

BUSINESS RECOVERS

Business recovery in the Pacific Coast province, the speaker said, was proceeding apace. Lumber mills and logging camps were running full time. Mining, agriculture, fishing and shipping all reported steady trade improvement with the majority of manufacturing plants operating to capacity.

Chilliwack, B.C., June 16.—Ken MacDonald, employee of the M. and T. Logging Co., Harrison Lake, was found safe after being missing since Sunday.

MacDonald, with seventeen other men, was on the Fraser River in a boat when the engine stalled and the current began carrying them downstream.

As the boat passed a small island MacDonald went over the side with a rope with the intention of anchoring the craft. He slipped however, and was forced to let go of the rope. The boat drifted fourteen miles down the river before it could be anchored and the engine repaired. MacDonald swam to the island, where he was found yesterday by a search party.

New Walkouts Block Industry in Provinces as Paris Returns to Normal and Blum Brings New Bills to Final Stage

Canadian Press

Paris, June 16.—A new wave of strikes developed in the provinces today as the Paris region returned almost to normal and Premier Blum brought his reform bills before the Senate for enactment into law.

At Aix-en-Provence strikes began among transportation workers and the building trades. Mill workers at Bordeaux occupied their mills. Lumber workers struck in the upper Pyrenees. 600 workers in an electro-ceramic mill took possession of their plant. At Nantes there were still 18,000 workers occupying shops and factories, including metal plants.

BUTCHERS OUT

Other new strikes involved slaughter-house workers at Lyons, canning and building workers at Lorient, hotel, restaurant, cafe employees, building workers and barbers at Marseille. A new building strike began at Nancy. Marine workers were out at Boulogne.

The bills taken up by the Senate, already approved in committee, were five in number, providing for easing of some of the Laval decree laws, tax exemptions for war veterans, paid vacations, collective labor contracts and the forty-hour week.

Canadian Press

Paris, June 16.—France's Socialist government countered threats of Rightist civil war and Communist revolution with vigorous prosecution today.

Its lessening strike worries complicated by armed Rightists and "foreign influences," the cabinet invoked two actions:

1. Stringent application of laws directed specifically against the Croix de Feu (Fry Cross).
2. Indictment and prosecution of extreme Leftists on charges of attempting to turn the labor disputes into an economic revolution.

"The Croix de Feu is the army of big capital," charged Premier Blum's newspaper, Le Populaire. "It is armed and preparing for civil war."

Four Leftist publications accused the Rightists of preparing to make desperate efforts to prevent the programme of the Socialist People's Front government from being carried out.

Move For Italy at League
Session

Canadian Press

London, June 16.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden intends to support—if not actually propose—lifting of sanctions against Italy, political circles believed today.

Interest in the problem of the economic penalties heightened as the cabinet was called to meet tomorrow to determine the government's official attitude prior to a House of Commons foreign affairs debate Thursday.

Despite continued approval of sanctions in some opposition quarters, the government seemed assured of a majority if it proposes immediate suspension of the sanctions.

Many Conservatives lauded what they called the "calculated indiscretion" of Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain, when he declared in an address last week that the "very mild misdeeds of madness."

WANT LEAGUE LEAD

The cabinet foreign affairs committee was reported to have agreed in principle to suspension of sanctions on the provision such action is first approved by the League of Nations.

The London News-Chronicle, Liberal, said: "If sanctions are abolished, the British Government may be expected to make its obligations in the Rhineland and the Mediterranean more exact and its obligations elsewhere considerably more vague."

REVISION OF COVENANT

The London Daily Telegraph, Conservative, said:

"The idea that the government is weakening in support of the League or in support of the principle of collective security is fantastic. But events plainly show the whole position must be carefully reviewed and, if necessary, Article XVI drastically revised in the light of what is and what is not possible in the present state of international opinion."

Ottawa, June 16.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics today reported an appreciable improvement during the last two weeks in crop conditions in most parts of Canada, but said there was a general need of more rain and warmer weather. BONUS IN U.S.
IS SPEEDED

Only Few Hitches in Great Veterans' Payment to Be Ironed Out

Associated Press

Washington, June 16.—The veterans' bonus went begging in several quarters today.

As Uncle Sam polished off distribution of $1,650,000,000 in baby bonds to 3,000,000 World War veterans and turned to the job of satisfying those who preferred cash to bonds, there appeared certain potential beneficiaries who rendered a polite "no, thank you."

Donald A. Hobart, commander of the American Veterans' Association, which claims 13,000 members, announced in New York that between 500 and 600 members had denied to themselves personal use of their bonds, and were turning them into the organization's treasury to help in the campaign for more funds for wounded ex-soldiers and war widows.

He said the association was definitely opposed to preferential treatment of veterans who were not disabled, but added there was no organized move to refuse the bonus.

Payment to veterans will be fairly well completed by the end of the week, postal officials said. Veterans cashing their bonds will start receiving their government cheques tomorrow, they explained.

A few hitches in the machinery of distribution remained to be ironed out—such as stopping shipments of packages of bonds improperly addressed and straightening out duplicate applications by veterans who feared their original applications had been lost.

Massey Harris Head Tells
M.P.'s About Implement
Collections

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 16.—Any suggestions from western prairie members of Parliament to improve the collection and distribution methods of the sale of farm machinery would be welcomed, T. A. Russell, president of the Massey-Harris Company Limited, today told the Commons committee on agriculture.

"I feel the collection and distribution costs are too high and any suggestion you gentlemen can make will be given careful consideration," he said.

The committee has been studying for some weeks the prices of agricultural implements which were increased this year.

Losses in bad debts in the last ten years had been $1,537,000, said Mr. Russell.

During the last few years the number of farm implement companies doing any considerable business in Canada had been reduced to four. With lower duties it would go up to eight.

It seemed a pity to see eight motor cars covering the same districts collecting time payments on farm machinery. Someone had to pay for this duplication of effort.

Replying to questions, Mr. Russell said he had discussed co-operation in making collections with the Cook-shutt Plover Company, but it had not proven feasible.

CROP GAINS ARE REPORTED

Ottawa, June 16.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics today reported an appreciable improvement during the last two weeks in crop conditions in most parts of Canada, but said there was a general need of more rain and warmer weather. It said rainfall during the season in the prairie provinces was insufficient to make an average crop.

The report said dull, wet weather in British Columbia has promoted rapid growth of all crops, but is delaying hay and strawberry harvests, although conditions generally are described as favorable.

Of Works in Britain

Associated Press

London, June 16.—Earl Stanhope today was appointed First Commissioner of Works, succeeding Rt. Hon. William G. A. Ormsby-Gore, who was made Colonial Secretary last week to replace Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas.

Mr. Thomas resigned as a result of the budget "leak" inquiry. For the last two years Lord Stanhope has been parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. He was also appointed today as British delegate to the forthcoming Montreux conference to consider Turkey's request for the right to re-fortify the Dardanelles.

Retirement of Judges Debated

WADDINGTON MEN PREPARE

Minister of Justice Lapointe Tells Commons He Favors Full Pensions, But Present Not Time to Add to Treasury's Burdens

Ottawa, June 16.—Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, believes high court judges in the provinces should be retired at seventy-five on full pensions, but admitted to the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that there was no time to increase burdens on the treasury.

He was replying to Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, who repeated his charge of a week ago that physically and mentally incapable judges sit on the provincial high court benches throughout the country.

The statement came during discussion of a bill amending the Judges' Act, which was given third reading and sent to the Senate.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

The Minister of Justice said he agreed with many of Mr. Bennett's charges. There was room for improvement on many benches.

"I have given this matter a great deal of attention," Mr. Lapointe continued. "and I am inclined to agree with the members of the Canadian Bar Association who have been charged especially with study of this matter and who recommend we should revert to the condition that existed before the 1920 amendment (to the Judges' Act) and permit judges who have reached the age of seventy-five and who have been on the bench twenty years to retire on the salary they received on the bench."

The minister said he had discussed this question with his colleagues, who considered this was no time to increase pensions for judges. From private discussion with the Conservative leader he had learned Mr. Bennett also agreed it would be difficult to get a bill through parliament at this time.

RETIREMENT PLAN

Incompetent judges could be retired by order-in-council, Mr. Lapointe continued, but it was a drastic method. If any provincial bar association sought retirement of a judge he would be open to rumors and idle reports. For one reason, there was a danger of running against the charge of political interference by retiring compulsorily some judge who had been appointed by another party while in office.

RELIEF COST IS DOWN THIS YEAR

Ottawa, June 16.—Relief recipients in Canada in May this year totaled 1,244,951, compared with 1,277,464 in May, 1935, Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, told the House of Commons yesterday evening. These were the latest figures available. Total cost of relief to the Dominion, provincial and municipal governments together was also lower this year. Mr. Rogers made his statement when an amendment to the 1936 Relief Act received second reading and was considered in committee.

KING SUPPORTS PEACE CONGRESS

London, June 16.—(Canadian Press from Havre).—A message from the King expressing the hope its deliberations would aid the cause of world peace was sent yesterday to the thirty-first international peace congress at Cardiff. "His Majesty earnestly trusts that the deliberations of the congress will help promote the cause of international peace, which His Majesty has no less at heart," the message said.

RADIO BILL DEBATE BRIEF

Little Opposition in Commons to New Broadcasting Set-up

Ottawa, June 16.—Abolition of the Canadian Radio Commission set-up which nationalized broadcasting in 1932, and substitution of a corporation similar to that which controls broadcasting in the British Isles, proposed in a bill before the House of Commons yesterday, may be effected with very little opposition.

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Finance, introduced the bill to create an honorary board of nine governors who will administer Canada's radio policy through a general manager, following a formal resolution adopted with only brief debate in which Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, and Hon. C. H. Cahoon offered mild criticism.

PRIVATE STATIONS

Under the proposed set-up private stations will continue to operate in conformity with rules and regulations set down by the corporation, which will be composed of representative citizens from all parts of Canada. Actual administration will be in the hands of the general manager and an assistant general manager, who will be appointed by the Governor-in-Council on the recommendation of the corporation.

Mr. Bennett yesterday took exception to criticisms of the commission, which he said had done a great deal of good work and made no more mistakes than might be expected from an organization breaking new ground.

It is understood the government will seek as general manager one of two Canadians who have reached positions of importance abroad, one with the British Broadcasting Corporation and the other with the National Broadcasting Company of the United States. Members of the corporation will be chosen after consultation with representative organizations in all parts of the Dominion.

Repeal of the Radio Act of 1932 is effected in the new bill, which provides the corporation shall take over all assets and liabilities of the commission. Six stations are now owned by the commission.

RAILWAYS PUT 10,000 TO WORK

That Total Will Be Taken From Relief When Federal Plan Complete

Ottawa, June 16.—Agreements between the government, the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway under which 10,000 men will be employed on maintenance and betterment work during the summer, were tabled in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Railways.

Separate agreements were made with each of the railway systems, but they are identical in terms. Each railway company agrees to increase its programme of work so as to furnish employment for approximately 5,000 men. These men are to be furnished "from those now unemployed and receiving assistance" from the government.

The agreements were dated June 15. They are now in force and men are being employed in accordance with their terms.

It is provided the railway companies will pay the men "the same rates of wages as it shall pay to its other extra-gang laborers in the particular district in which the work shall be performed, and shall make the same deductions for board and lodging and for bedding, if required, and for medical aid, as it makes from the wages of such other extra gang laborers."

EIGHT-HOUR DAY

The basic day will be eight hours. If the men are required to work longer, they must be paid overtime. Men will be subject to discipline in the same manner as other gang laborers, and may be dismissed for cause.

BOWLING WINDUP

The A.O.F. Carpel Bowling Club will conclude its season's activities with a social evening on Thursday, June 18, during which prizes will be presented to the winners of the club tournament. Cups won during the season will also be distributed.

B.C. and Alberta Climbers Will Join Los Angeles Trio in Attempt Next Month to Reach Top of Mount Waddington 200 Miles North of Vancouver

Vancouver, June 16.—Lawrence Grassi of Canmore, Alta., and William F. Dobson, James Irving and Elliott Henderson, all of Vancouver, have been chosen by the Waddington committee to accompany three Sierra Club mountaineers in the British Columbia Mountaineering Club's attack on Mount Waddington in July, according to an announcement.

Grassi is a top-ranking North American Alpinist and has many long climbs and first ascents to his credit. He has made his greatest reputation on rock climbs, but is considered equally at home on snow and ice.

Jules Eichorn, Dick Leonard and Bestor Robinson are the Sierra Club climbers from California who will attempt to scale the almost unquarable 13,000-foot peak, 200 miles north of Vancouver, on which several attempts have been made in the last few years.

DATE NOT YET SET

Uncertain weather conditions have not yet permitted the setting of any definite date, but an advance party of seven, including Eichorn, will leave Vancouver by cruiser towards the end of June or early in July with more than 1,500 pounds of food and equipment.

A base camp and one or more higher camps will be established and the climbers will follow about the middle of July.

PARTY OF GERMANS

In addition to the B.C.-Los Angeles party, a German party, headed by Fritz Welsner, is expected to try to scale the peak this summer.

Frank Grege, New Yorker Who Returned $42,000 in Bonds, Now Almost Penniless

New York, June 16.—Frank Grege, the honest sandwich board man who "killed with a look," was seeking a new job today.

"The fortune I cleaned up in Wall Street," he said, "is practically gone. I better find something quick."

Grege, plodding along Wall Street in February, 1935, reached into a snowbank and discovered $42,000 in negotiable securities which he returned to the owners.

SAYS CANADA MOVES AHEAD

Investment Dealers' President States Careful Government Financing Needed

Jasper, Alta., June 16.—Confidence in Canada's future was never more justified than at the present time, J. E. Savard of Montreal told delegates to the annual convention of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada in his presidential address here today.

Industries throughout the Dominion almost without exception had moved ahead with rapid strides. In many cases, he said, they were operating at all-time peak levels. Continuation of easy money conditions in bond markets and strengthening of equity and earning power behind corporation securities were cited as favorable factors.

Agriculture reflected the upward movement with prospects for a more normal wheat carry-over at the end of the present crop year. In mining, Canada had advanced within five years from an unimportant position in the gold industry to the world's third largest producer. Hydro-electric industry and the newsprint output, he said, were running at high levels.

GOVERNMENT FINANCING

Sounding a note for careful financing and economy in government, the president referred to "unfavorable factors experienced in the past year" as "chiefly of a political nature of which Canada had more than her share."

"The year 1936 has been far more serene as far as political disturbances are concerned and I think we can look forward to a period from now on in which there will be a greater understanding of the far-reaching ill-effects of even a suggestion of repudiation."

Money rates in the Dominion had followed the world downward movement, in evidence since 1932. Bank interest on savings deposits declined from 3 per cent, in May, 1933, to 1½ per cent in June of this year. The decline, however, coupled with the federal government's "easy money policies" had proved a good foundation for an extended period of easy money conditions in Canada.

DRAFT RELIEF MEN FOR JOBS

Where Volunteers Lacking in Vancouver Officer Will Make Selection

Vancouver, June 16.—W. R. Bone, Vancouver relief officer, yesterday was given power by the city council to draft from the ranks of relief recipients labor for relief work in cases where there had not been a sufficient number of volunteers.

Mr. Bone said he had been asked by the parks board to detail a certain number of men for work in Stanley Park and was unable to find sufficient volunteers.

Of the 5,100 married unemployed on relief in Vancouver, approximately 900 have been given jobs with the parks board in order to earn their allowances.

Under the new policy adopted yesterday by the city council's relief committee property owners on relief will be given monthly allowances to meet arrears of taxes and mortgage interest, providing the total shall not exceed the rent allowance to which the recipient would be entitled if he were a tenant.

Germany has traveling grocery stores mounted on trucks, covering daily routes around Berlin.

ABERHART TO BE DISCUSSED

Investment Dealers in Convention to Scan Alberta Situation

Jasper, Alta., June 16.—Actions to date and the future principles of the Aberhart government of Alberta in relation to finance in general, and in particular the $160,000,000 which people of the Dominion and of other countries have loaned to Alberta, will be among chief topics before the twentieth annual convention of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, which opened here yesterday.

"There is no doubt this Alberta situation is just about the most pressing problem we have before us, and all our members, as representatives of the people who have invested their money in Alberta, are vitally concerned," said J. Ernest Savard, Montreal, president of the association.

Seventy-five delegates are attending the three-day convention.

Edmonton, June 6.—An investigation into Alberta Government's finances is impending as a result of last week's conference between representatives of bondholders and the

ATTEMPTS MADE TO BURN CHURCH

Toronto, June 16.—The blaze, apparently set by a firebug, were discovered today in the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes here. The first, about mid-morning, and the second, an hour later, were put out by the caretaker, Patrick McGinn, both were in the basement.

The third, just before noon, was in the vestry and caused about $500 damage before it was extinguished by firemen.

Three years ago, June 6, 1933, one fireman was killed and others hurt in fighting a fire in the cupola of the church.

Veterans' "Baby" Bonds

THERE WAS JOY AMONG SOME 3,000,000 United States ex-service men yesterday when they received their "baby" bonds as the culmination of a seventeen-year controversy which has cut across party lines as one bonus bill after another has been vetoed by successive presidents. These bonds may be exchanged for government cheques and cashed at once, or they may be retained by their recipients who do not need the money immediately. They may be converted into money at any time, however, or they may be held until they mature in 1945. Their earning capacity in interest meanwhile is 3 per cent per annum.

Yesterday's distribution of bonds accounted for $1,650,000,000 and by the end of the week it is confidently expected that a very substantial part of this will begin to flow through the various channels of trade—from small store purchases to the building of homes. Students of economic trends are watching expectantly to see what effect the sudden unloading of cash will have upon the general trade of the country at a time when, according to precedent, normal business is inclined to hit a downswing. President Roosevelt has urged co-operation in the easing of the government's cheques in order that the flow of money into trade may start "without unnecessary delay." The veterans' administrator, General Frank T. Hines, suggests retention of the bonds "if there is no urgent condition which requires that they be cashed." Many employed and thrifty ex-service men no doubt will take his advice.

While the various veterans' bonus bills which have been presented to Congress since the war have differed in some important particulars, the underlying principle has remained substantially the same. A good deal of hostility from time to time has emanated from that element which objected strongly to the payment of compensation to soldiers who had never left the country for service abroad at all. They contended that if these men, many of them not requiring assistance, were to receive public monies for non-active service, deserving persons in other walks of life, who did not wear a uniform, should also receive consideration on a more liberal scale than the "dole" system permits.

The driving force behind the campaign for the bonus has been the American Legion. Its lobby since the first appeal for monetary consideration for the veterans has been insistent and influential. Until last year, however, it had failed. Even when Congress had passed the measure which became law in 1935, President Roosevelt vetoed the bill; but scarcely had he done so than both Houses over-ruled the veto by substantially more than the requisite majority specified by the Constitution. This was the final legislative chapter. The chief executive had to bow to the inevitable.

President Roosevelt was so alarmed at the possible adverse financial effect the approval of the bonus bill would have upon the republic's economic structure that he set a precedent by appearing before Congress to deliver his veto message in person. He argued that if the plea of the veterans succeeded in the final passage of the measure there would be nothing to prevent other organizations, considering themselves entitled to financial assistance on a similar basis, going to Washington hat in hand with arguments difficult to counter. Back of the President's mind all the time, of course, was the growth of the national debt under the promulgation of his own policies which he believed necessary for the country's economic recovery, and an increase by approximately $2,000,000,000 for which the bonus payment would be responsible.

Mr. Roosevelt's stand on the whole question has been unequivocal throughout. Sufficient numbers of his party in the House and Senate, however, voted against his advice to them. From the purely party standpoint, therefore, the Democratic cause has not suffered on this account. On the other hand, when the President is assailed for the growth of the national debt to nearly $35,000,000,000, his natural reply will be that he did his best to save the treasury about $2,000,000,000. To what extent such an argument may have to be met on the hustings remains to be seen. It is hardly likely it will cut very much ice.

A New Internationalism

FARMERS' WIVES OF THE world are doing their best to break down the isolationist policies of nations. They are doing it through their new organization, the Associated Country Women, which has just had a convention with 7,500 delegates, representing twenty-seven nations, in Washington.

These women proceed on the theory that problems of farm wives are identical the world over, that home-making is universal and that peace is indispensable to humanity. Accordingly, they are going about cementing the world friendships through their own channels—by exchange of farm handicraft, compilation of an international cookbook, and other such projects. This movement at least promises to get at the heart of world amity where it begins—in the home.

Russia Swinging Back

INTERESTING NEWS FROM SOVIET Russia is the announcement that henceforth there will be no discrimination against former Czarists, merchants, and kulaks in the matter of employment.

In the early days of the Soviet regime, these groups suffered many indignities, and until now have continued to bear the burden of the New Russia's hatred for the old order. Any departure from this state of affairs, therefore, is important. But it is not altogether surprising.

The Soviet rule is more and more inclined, it appears, toward democratic principles. Russia learned, in its early days of revolution and regeneration, that there is need for every class of society, as witness the attitude of its intelligentsia. And now comes recognition of the merchants and the kulaks as a vital class in the country's social structure.

Russia, it is clear, is swinging back from Communism toward the original aims of state socialism, because it has learned that governments are, after all, only the people composite.

Movies of Criminals

ANOTHER ACHIEVEMENT IS REPORTED in the war on crime—an achievement which, officials believe, is fully as important as the process of fingerprinting, first used thirty-five years ago.

Devised by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, well-known superintendent of the New Jersey state police, the new weapon is motion picture detection of criminals. With the Schwarzkopf system it is now possible to give criminals a "screen test" in which their mannerisms of walk, posture and speech are recorded—a vast improvement over the lifeless posters which police now use.

The Schwarzkopf set-up is to be turned over to the U.S. Department of Justice, which contemplates establishing a motion picture library of criminals, to supplement the present fingerprint collection. Such pictures may even be shown in theatres. Thus a more effective international system will, in effect, be possible for criminal apprehension. It comes as a welcome additional weapon.

War Not Over

OUT OF ROME COMES THE TRAGIC story of thirty young Italian soldiers who were ambushed and massacred by Ethiopian natives. Thus comes the first intimation of the long guerrilla warfare that Il Duce's legions are sure to face in colonizing the new territory.

At the same time, official communiques from Rome place the "blood cost" of Italy's Ethiopian war at 4,359 lives. Of these, 1,304 Italians were killed in combat and 1,009 died of illness or accident. The others were native troops.

The Fascist campaign in Africa is not altogether over. It faces two dire threats—guerrilla warfare and the scourge of mortal sickness. It would seem that the conquest of Ethiopia has entered a difficult stage.

Notes

Many of us are like the Chinese in China—eager to have our wrongs righted if somebody else will do it.

Leisure time, as a police head says, is so often danger time in so far as crime and delinquency are concerned.

Rain is quite all right for our farmers, if they do not get too much of it. Nature, sometimes, will be "cussed."

It is still risky to smoke in the presence of a nice old lady. If she does not reprimand you, she may ask for a cigarette.

It was a bachelor, of course, who said that "leap year is all right, only there should be one hundred of them to each century."

The Canadian youngster who had the courage to go on the land a few years ago must be patting himself on the back these days.

The news story about the ban being lifted on reindeer killing in the north will be a handy item to display to the bairns next Christmas if Santa Claus should fail to show up.

While lots of parents never brought up their boys to be farmers, how many parents are wishing today that their boys had a few acres, raising enough to keep body and soul together—and a bit for the "old stocking"?

The Toronto Star analyzes the results of the recent by-election in Victoria. Quoting the reduction from the general election last October in the Conservative lead over the C.C.F. and the Liberal it finds they "can hardly be said to show any Conservative recovery." It was the fifth federal by-election since last October. The other four were won by the government, three by acclamation and the fourth in Assiniboia, Sask., by a majority of 3,000.

British Columbia's treasury will save $270,000 a year in interest payments to the federal government as a result of a cut in interest rates, announced in Ottawa the other day. It will be recalled that Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance of this province recently secured a cut in our interest rate on bank borrowings from 4 1/4 to 3 1/2 per cent. While figures on this subject have not been given out, the province probably saved around $37,000 a year on its bank overdraft.

Loose Ends

The entrusted Tories know how to walk the tightrope—Education turns out to be valuable—the news should be broken gently—and a martyr falls in martyrdom.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

MASTERS

THE CONSERVATIVE politicians of Britain are constantly reminding one, with humiliation, of their superior agility as compared with the simple fellows who run our affairs at Ottawa. Something over a year ago the Baldwin government, which has been cool to the League of Nations, was appalled by the League's huge peace vote among the voters of England. Instantly it became passionately fond of the League. It got itself re-elected by rushing out to support the League and to stop Italy's cruel conquest of Ethiopia. This was the Baldwin government's switch number one.

The nation rallied behind that splendid cry and gave the Baldwin government a huge majority. Whereupon the nimble Baldwin government made a secret deal with France and Italy behind the League's back to give Mussolini half of Ethiopia. This was switch number two.

But the British people (who, thank heaven, are not the Baldwin government) were deeply upset by the nauseous smell of the Hoare-Laval deal and made such a fuss that Mr. Baldwin had to repudiate the whole thing, explaining to everyone's satisfaction that he would not have tolerated it had he known, but the telephone "Chequers," his country home, was out of order that week-end. The government prepared to stand by the League to the end and fired Hoare. This was switch number three.

Last week Mr. Neville Chamberlain announced that any attempt to do anything about the complete conquest of Ethiopia, the control of Italy and the continuation of the League as anything but a debating society was "midsummer madness." This means that the League is to be wound up in bankruptcy, Mussolini given everything he wants and Sir Samuel Hoare brought back into the government. Switch number four.

Switch number five will probably be to loan money to Mussolini to help him finance his Ethiopian campaign, for, obviously, the last thing the British government ever wanted was to injure him and thus perhaps start the spread of communism.

No wonder the honest British people are a little annoyed, but from here one can only admit the agility of those entrusted old British Tories who are probably doing more damage to the solidarity of the British Empire than any of their predecessors.

Meanwhile, The Emperor Haile Selassie, our great and good friend, whom we would never desert, is in London and the British government won't even allow one of its members to call on him or go to his garden party, but the British public, with its invariable sense of fair play, is giving the little dark man a royal welcome.

These are just a few of the facts which our politicians at Ottawa, so much duller and more inept than the masterful British Tories, should remember when they debate Canada's foreign policy this week. Europe is too clever for us. In such affairs as Ethiopia, we are like a yokel on his first trip to a big city. Perhaps we had better stay home and mind our own business.

EDUCATION

A HIGHER EDUCATION is a fine thing. I have always envied those so equipped. I know a doctor in town who spent ten years in his education and he can blow the nested rings with cigarette smoke I have ever seen. He learned that at college. Another boy I know who studied at two Canadian universities and took extensive post-graduate work in medicine in England can make a noise exactly like a cow mooring. Really, the resemblance between him and a cow mooring is startling. He learned that at college and I have always envied him.

You may disdain such accomplishments, but you never know when they may save the situation. Take this friend of mine who can moo like a cow because he has been to three universities. The newspapers didn't print any account of his heroism last week, but I cannot let it pass.

This man was driving along Richmond Avenue when he saw a cow loose on the boulevard. He jumped out of his car and approached the cow and grasped it firmly by the horns and sought to turn it around and lead it back into its field. The cow, enjoying the green grass of the boulevard, firmly declined to be led and got rather peevish. A titanic struggle ensued on the boulevard between the animal and the man, and despite his education at three universities, my friend was tossed flat on the ground head first, feet in the air.

Now, an ignorant man like you or me, without the advantage of three universities' training, would have surrendered here and driven off. Not so my friend. He remembered his education. He went into the cow's field and he began to moo, to the delight of the gathering spectators. The cow lifted her ears, looked restless and then rushed into the field where my friend, neatly vaulting the fence, closed the gate behind her. An incident like that certainly gives you a new respect for higher education.

MARTYR

THE REMOVAL of illegal advertising signs from our highways is one of those fine lost causes, like the removal of the little white bear from Beacon Hill Park, which I have embraced from time to time without any result. A new crop of signs is growing fast on the island again and the government, which is supposed to enforce the law, doesn't do anything about it and, so far as I have heard, no company has ever been prosecuted for this desecration.

But up the island last week-end I met a jolly old Britisher who was doing what the government has failed to do. He was going out boldly with a hammer and pulling down tin signs by the roadside.

"Eventually," said he, "they will arrest me, of course, and try me for damaging the property of the owners of the signs. I am waiting for that. It will bring the question to public attention and force the government to jolly well do something about this outrage. It will make a martyr of me and that's what I want by gad."

The tragedy, alas, is that the sign-owners won't arrest him. They won't make a martyr of him. They will merely put up more signs. The poor old patriot will go on trying to sweep back the rising sea tide of ugliness with a hammer.

CO-OPERATION FOR COMPETITION

To the Editor:—One point in Proh Pudor's last letter on the League of Nations and Socialism merits comment. He asks how the league is to succeed while competition is the keynote of society. He forgets that the same question applies equally to Socialism. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. And if his answer to what he calls this unanswerable question is that the professed aim of Socialism is to substitute co-operation for competition, so, too, is that of the League of Nations, and in both cases the aim cannot be realized except as we learn to become co-operative. But whereas the league has scored a large number of co-operative successes in various fields, the competitive tradition has been successfully hindering the advent of Socialism in most countries. If the league and the aims of Socialism had more co-operative support from co-operative people we should be so much nearer a commonwealth of mankind. In his attitude to the league Proh Pudor is deserting his own flag. For shame! Proh Pudor, for shame!

H. G. WYATT.

BUT NEW CROP CAME IN SINCE LAST AUGUST

To the Editor:—Whatever the critics may have to say regarding the present Liberal government, I think everyone will agree that in securing the services of Mr. Jas. Murray as chairman of the Wheat Board they have discovered a super-salesman of extraordinary ability. If we are to accept the figures appearing in your editorial of June 12 as correct and which are as follows:

Unsold wheat at Aug. 1, 1935 215,000,000 bus.
Unsold wheat at May 22, 1936 166,600,000 bus.

Therefore reduction in the interim 48,400,000 bus. Between these two dates our editorial states that 169,095,876 bushels were exported overseas or to the U.S.A. or three times as much as the reduction. Truly a marvelous feat of salesmanship, but perhaps the U.S.A. were buying wheat they did not want delivered, just to help Canadian farmers, or to keep up the price of wheat they don't expect to raise.

Thanks to the Social Crediters, we now all are aware that the banks lend us money they don't have and destroy currency that was never printed—all in normal times. Now, in again approaching normalcy, we have our Wheat Board actually exporting wheat from the carry-over surplus, without reducing the stocks in hand by the same quantities. So perhaps our lumber manufacturers will be exporting lumber without cutting down any more trees and so "save the forests" for later generations and no doubt you will find a way of selling papers that are not printed.

Anyhow, there are lots of people receiving incomes that are not and never were earned by the recipients, so why not sell wheat that still remains in the elevators and have more in hand after it is all delivered before the next crop is harvested.

PROPOSES SQUANDERMANIA

To the Editor:—There is no rational limit to the amount of good things that we might enjoy, except our "productive capacity" that is, the available raw materials, machinery and men.

Let us imagine an outbreak of Squandermania. Suppose the well-to-do people of Canada were to embark upon an orgy of personal extravagance. With such an increase of "effective demand" the output of goods from factories and stores would quickly be expanded. As the output increased—so would the profits. The thrown "into a panic" in 1914 when a "small" German squadron was reported "somewhere in the Pacific."

What a long, long way we have descended from the standard set by Drake, who, if memory serves me right, was reported as calmly continuing his game of bowls on the approach of a "large" Spanish squadron towards the coast of England.

Of course, things have changed a bit since then—even Mr. Philippen seems to have sensed that, because he goes on to say "the threatening danger is one hundred times greater today than it was in 1914." Whew! Where do we live?

However, all is now well. Col. Moore has once again buckled on his armor and sprung gallantly to the rescue. He takes us into his confidence and reveals in fullest detail the venturesome history of his military career. With one unimportant exception, he has gained first-hand knowledge of all wars in the last fifty years. He has an intimate knowledge of the defence of Port Arthur by the hated Russians against our friends, the Japs. This is really frightfully reassuring. Because he now knows exactly what should be done with those thirty-year-old cannon we have "somewhere in Requin-mait."

Now, if we only had someone, who knew someone whose grandfather was a friend of one of Nelson's powder monkeys, why, we should be able to entrench our bow and arrow army in such a position of strength that attacking airplanes would not even see them! And we panicky Victorians could rest easy in our beds. Those of us who have beds!

Quid rides? Yet, after all, this is no laughing matter. This concerted attempt on the part of these militaristic gentlemen to arouse the "fighting animation" of which Dr. Toimie spoke the other night, has its sinister side. Surely Col. Moore, who helped dispatch in 1914, 165,000 of Canada's finest boys to the scene of murder, has already enough on his conscience. Surely, Mr. Philippen knows that in modern war there is no defence except attack, and surely he will agree that if the price of national honor is only paid by dropping bombs and poison gas on innocent women and children, from the air, then we had better go down—without disgraced.

"The security of the people is the most important part of government's business, and it is high time it was attended to," says Mr. Philippen. And so say all of us! Security in our homes, in our jobs, in our food supply and in our natural and right heritage of human happiness. But battleships, guns, poison gas, armies and navies are the toys and children of the devil himself. Away with them!

THE RYAN CASE

From The Stratford Beacon-Herald
The lesson of all this is that sympathy of the kind extended Ryan and other criminals of his type is not only wasted, but it is a public menace. The custodians of the law, who are in constant contact with criminals, are sometimes accused of being "hard-boiled," but they know their men and have made a psychological study of the crime complex.

The chronic criminal is to say the least, a lunatic. Everybody has a sympathetic feeling toward lunatics, but no one would let his sympathy go so far as to clamor for the setting at large of a notorious madman. Yet this is what has happened in the releasing of "Red" Ryan.

GUNS TOO EASY

From The St. Thomas Times-Journal
It is far too easy in this country, as in the United States, for a man to get guns. Nobody has any right to possess a revolver at all unless he is a police officer, or is engaged in some pursuit which requires that he have one under permit, with the police fully aware that he has it. Guns are no part of the equipment of a peaceable, law-abiding citizen. The law should be so tightened that the whereabouts of every gun in the country is known.

NOW IS THIS NICE?

Police Tests Prove

Victoria's motoring public came in for a considerable share of praise from Chief of Police Heatley this morning after he had perused figures on recent brake-testing in the city and discovered less than 4 per cent of cars checked were defective.

For the last few days police have been stationed at various points in the city and a close check has been kept on the condition of cars.

For such complaints as faulty brakes or defective lights motorists were given check-up slips which required them to have the fault repaired within forty-eight hours before being liable to prosecution.

The chief noted with satisfaction it was not necessary to prosecute any motorists who were given these slips. Seven hundred and seventy-one cars were checked by the traffic department and only thirty were given check-up cards.

Engle was batted hard but good work in the infield out the Islanders out of several runs. In the second inning, with the bases full, the Beavers turned in a triple play.

The officials selected for the third annual sports meet of the University School since moving into its present quarters are as follows: P. A. Sparks, C. H. Collison, R. V. Harvey, Harry Pooley, Hepburn Gillespie and T. O. Thomas. Prizes will be presented by G. H. Barnard, M.P.

A troop of men, Montenegrins and Servians, fifty in number, marched out to Beacon Hill Park last night to sleep, having no place to go and no friends in town. They were brought from Prince Rupert by the defence in the recent Prince Rupert strike trials and, having given evidence, they were not needed further.

Free use of the Athletic Park from June 19 to September 4 was granted the Victoria Athletic Club by the City Council yesterday evening.

An invitation from the Civic Employees Federation to the City Council to attend its sports carnival event on June 23 was accepted by the council yesterday evening, as was one from the chief of police for the annual revolver contests on June 25 and 26.

OVERCOMES FINE DEFENCE

Flawless Play by Both Sides Gives Declarer Game Only Because of His Superior Strength

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

When brilliant defence is met by equally brilliant play by declarer, the odds of success are in favor of the latter, particularly when he has reached a game contract, for that very fact marks him as having the greater strength. However, even though a series of fine defensive plays go wrong, they can still give declarer some anxious moments before he lets down the score.

Today's hand, taken from a rubber bridge game, might be said to show where North, the defending player with the opening lead, or West, the declarer, never touched a wrong card in the play of the hand, and if West made his game, it was due to the fact that he had more stuff with which to fight.

SOLUTION TO PREVIOUS CONTRACT PROBLEM

North has a difficult choice of a lead. The opening of a diamond would, of course, be bad, and in both hearts and clubs undesirable leading situations exist. North reasoned that a trump lead could do no harm, so he opened the seven of spades.

Amateur Night
At Brentwood

Brentwood, June 16.—Over 200 people attended an amateur night programme under the auspices of the West Saanich Women's Institute on Friday.

T. W. Walker Sr., and J. E. Sladen acted as masters of ceremonies.

The audience had a difficult task to select the winners, as there were thirty entries. When the votes were counted it was found that Miss Ursula Pottinger headed the list with a splendid little act portraying a Scotch spinster looking for a husband.

In second place came Miss Margery Nott for a clever acrobatic display. Jimmy Davis's one-string fiddle made of a cigar box, a broom handle and one string gave him third prize.

Fourth, fifth and sixth respectively were the Deep Cove Symphony Orchestra, T. Haddon and Miss Margaret Davis (yodeler).

Miss Owen Dewar, Victoria's May Queen for 1936 appeared in her Map Queen's costume and was presented with a corsage bouquet of red carnations.

The West Saanich Women's Institute expressed thanks to Viscountess Colville, Mrs. H. R. Gale, Mrs. R. P. Butchart and Rev. Crouch for donations towards the prize list and to Mrs. K. Ferrier for acting as convener. Two prizes drawn for during the evening were won by Mrs. R. Anderson and Miss Georgina Johnson.

Reports on the Grand Post convention in Vancouver recently were presented by delegates at the regular meeting of Post No. 1, Native Sons of British Columbia in the K. of P. Hall yesterday evening.

H. B. Sargison, Chief Factor, presided at the meeting during which C. G. McIlmoy and E. L. Good were initiated.

Sidney Trading Co. Has Silver Jubilee

The Sidney Trading Co. Ltd. of Sidney, V.I., is celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of its opening. Twenty-five years ago, in June, 1911, the company was formed by the amalgamation of three small businesses—a small store operated by J. J. White, a small cannery and the store on the present site of the company, then owned by C. C. Cochran. The three businesses were brought together under the management of C. C. Cochran, J. J. White and R. B. Brethour. Mr. White paying more attention to the customs and post office, which were in the store, and Mr. Brethour the mercantile end of the business. A few years later G. A. Cochran arrived from Medicine Hat, Alberta, to take an active part. After the formation of another company—the Bannock Cannery Co. Ltd.—under the management of C. C. Cochran, the store came under the management of G. A. Cochran, who still carries on in that capacity today.

Should the city have an opportunity to sell its Yates Street yard, accommodation for equipment stored there could be found in the yard at Queen's Avenue and Chambers Street, the executive of the public works committee informed the council at its meeting last night. Conversion of the old Kingston Street Fire Hall into a yard would not be suitable, the committee reported.

Must lower interest rates mean LOWER INCOMES?

LET AN IMPERIAL INCOME PROTECTION POLICY make up the deficiency

A FEW years ago your estate was, perhaps, adequate to care for your dependents—sufficient to provide an income for yourself after retirement. Is that true today? At present low interest rates what yearly income would your estate earn?

A quick and certain means of building up your estate is afforded by an Imperial Income Protection policy. In case of your death the full value of the policy will be immediately available for your dependents; and in case you live capital will be accumulated to provide an income for yourself after you retire from business life.

Such a policy will guarantee to you, for example, (a) $50 or more a month for life, beginning when you are sixty (b) $5,000 or more in cash for your dependents if you die before age sixty and (c) absolute safety for your investment regardless of the ups and downs of business.

Stop worrying about low interest rates. Get information about how an Imperial Life policy will endow your estate with ample income-earning power.

FORECLOSURE MOVE STARTED

City Initiates Action on Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Ltd. Elevator

Preliminary steps towards foreclosure on the Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Ltd. elevator were taken by the City Council yesterday evening on the recommendation of the finance committee.

H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, was instructed to make the necessary arrangements for foreclosure negotiations.

Explaining the recommendation, Alderman P. R. Brown stated the finance committee was not quite satisfied with the way the grain elevator business had been conducted. The elevator was not rented at all last year, he said, and the concern owed the city $90,000. Carrying charges amounted to $40,000 annually, and any foreclosure action would take nine months or more to complete.

"We think we could negotiate as well as they can," he said, referring to possible lease of the structure.

Mayor Leeming noted equity in the elevator was disappearing rapidly. The committee also received approval for a recommendation naming Diagon-Hibben Co. Ltd. printers of the annual report and the Buckle Printing Company printers of agreements between the city and the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

ASK INTEREST CUT
The council endorsed a move seeking a reduction in the interest rate on city borrowings from the provincial government in order to enjoy at least part of the interest reduction accorded the province by the federal government recently.

Payment of $100 to the Dominion Conference of Mayors—continuing committee for expenses entailed in its work was authorized.

Alderman Brown said the conference had accomplished a great deal in influencing the reduction in charges against municipalities for relief and was entitled to assistance in meeting costs of the continuing committee.

He was supported by Mayor David Leeming.

SET COMMITTEE FOR NAVY WEEK

Alderman J. D. Hunter, Alderman P. R. Brown and Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins were appointed to act with Mayor David Leeming as Victoria's special Navy Week committee at yesterday evening's council meeting.

The council also made arrangements for representation at Vancouver's Jubilee festivities from July 1 to 4, and for the Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention in Vernon next September.

At the Vancouver event Victoria will be represented by a special float to be arranged by the May 24 committee executive under Alderman Hawkins.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The Langford Cub Pack celebrated its fourth anniversary Friday afternoon. Games were enjoyed and the treasure hunt was won by Cub Frank Clevette. All the boys received a small gift and were treated to soft drinks and chocolate cake. The rover crew and scout troop enjoyed a "hot-dog" feed in the evening at the Belmont Lagoon.

The weekly meeting of the St. Paul's boy scout troop was held Friday evening last in the Scout Hall at Esquimalt. Duty Patrol Leader G. Buckingham opened the meeting with "flag break." This was followed by inspection, roll-call and collection of dues. A stalking game was played and then a first aid practice was held. A first-class badge was presented to D. Kennedy and the carpenter's badge to C. Knowles. The meeting closed in the usual way with "flag down." After the meeting a court of honor was held. D. Kennedy has been made troop leader, while R. Wilcox will take his place as patrol leader of the Woodpeckers. K. Mitchell is second in command.

A resolution from the business and trades development committee, calling attention to the need of enforcing the city by-law which requires merchants to keep the sidewalks clear of merchandise, was referred back to the committee to take up with Chief of Police Heatley by the council yesterday evening.

Expect Liberals To Hold Seat

One Week of Campaigning Left in Omineca; Premier Due Back Friday

With voting in the Omineca provincial by-election a week away, on June 22, Liberal circles here were confident today that the government would hold the seat in the British Columbia Legislature.

Omineca was represented in the House by a Liberal from 1916 up to the time Mr. Justice A. M. Manson resigned to go into the federal contest last fall. Reports of the present campaign reaching here are that the government is showing strength and its candidate will be returned.

Premier Pattullo, on a two weeks' swing around the riding, was in Fort Fraser today, after visiting Telkwa, Burns Lake, Fraser Lake and Vanderhoof. If he sticks to his original schedule, the Premier will get back to Victoria about Friday, but it is possible he will stay over for election day.

Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, who opened the government's campaign in the north, is expected back earlier in the week.

LANGFORD

Mrs. William Griffiths of Metchoha will be the soloist at a garden fete on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stuart-Yates. Mrs. Thain will render piano selections during the afternoon.

A meeting of the Sunday school teachers of St. Matthew's Church will be held on Thursday at 7 o'clock at Holmwood.

The first annual flower service took place in St. Matthew's Church on Sunday afternoon. Many beautiful floral bouquets were presented by the children and placed on a large cross in the altar by the Rev. A. M. Achesson-Lyle. Rev. A. Bishlager of Duncan gave a talk on the theme "Flowers are God's messengers of Love." The flowers were sent to the children's wards in the hospitals.

GIVES Better MOTOR PROTECTION

- say fleet operators

Propane-Solvent Refined

GREATER ECONOMY—Many fleet owners, who keep an accurate check of oil consumption in relation to car-operating costs, state that Triton is the most economical motor oil they can buy. They find that Triton has Longer Lubricating Life. This is due to its higher resistance to sludging and carbon formation. Triton is entirely free from low-grade, unstable materials. It's 100% pure paraffin base.

MOTORS WEAR LESS—Triton forms practically no carbon in the combustion chamber. The result is a cleaner, smoother-running motor, freedom from carbon knocks, and consequently greatly reduced wear on your engine. Triton lengthens the period between overhauls... gives you more economical car operation.

Mechanics, new-car dealers and fleet owners recommend Triton.

Sold in sealed cans at hundreds of independent dealers and all Union Service Stations throughout Western Canada.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Linda Bourne, twenty years old, pretty, is left almost penniless by the sudden death of her father.

Peter, Gardiner, newspaper reporter, helps her get a job writing society news. Linda is in love with Dig Carter, but he goes abroad to study singing. When Peter asks her to marry him she agrees, but postpones the wedding.

Honey Harmon, film star, comes to Newtown, making a "personal appearance" tour. Peter goes to interview her and sells her a scenario written by Linda. Peter turns down a job in Hollywood, but when Linda receives an offer there she accepts.

In Hollywood no one pays any attention to Linda until one day, in a conference, she suggests that Cooper Venell, an actor, has been misused. She is quoting Peter, though no one knows this.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

For two months Linda had spent the days since her arrival in Hollywood sitting with her feet on the pull-out drawer of her desk, idly reading old scripts. At luncheon she had found a secluded table in the Commonwealth luncheon room, then wandered over the lot, watching the making of pictures and going back to write a few little letters to Pete in which she pictured herself as Alice in Wonderland. Studio life was fascinating to watch, but Linda had been bored.

Then came that fateful day of the conference. Linda had been invited out of courtesy. Directors, producers and writers had met to discuss the falling stars, the pictures that were not good "box-office," and out of it all had come one suggestion from the unknown Linda Bourne. And a falling star had become once more a brilliant possibility.

Linda was no longer bored. The studio had bought Myron "Life of Keats" and they were already at work on the picture for Cooper Venell. He put aside his cap, his turtle neck sweaters and his gangster roles. He became Keats. The rushes came through and the movie followed.

Linda was famous. Miracle girl, they called her. But, by this time, Linda was no longer surprised at Hollywood. And in a little time she forgot it hadn't been her own idea—that she had only said what Pete had written. She had long since thrown away the telegram from Pete. She accepted her increased salary as easily as she accepted her move to the executive offices and the services of a secretary. They gave her the book to adapt, and Linda learned what adapting meant. Where the role didn't fit the actor, the actor wasn't fitted to the role; the writer changed the role.

When they brought her a copy of her original script, which Pete had sold to Honey Harmon almost half a year before, Linda thought the plot was really her own. If there was a third character that Pete had written into it, long before in The Blade office, Linda didn't remember and Pete had never told her what he had done.

When Linda made the first speech that made her famous in moviedom that day she took several rounds of the ladder of success at once, but when, three months later, lunching casually with Hogarth James, who had played English character parts for the past five years, she suggested that he had a kind of menace in his kindly face that was exactly right for a series of new mystery stories, she was made.

She forgot that Pete Gardiner had pointed this out to her after a movie they had seen together at the Palace at Newtown.

It wasn't lonely for Linda in Hollywood after that. She had moved from the hotel to an apartment house, bought herself a modest car, and, like everyone else in Hollywood, went to the movies. She met a few people who lived in the same apartment house, but too often found herself lonelier than she dared write to Pete that first year.

A young woman with power—and Linda had power since she was credited with "discoveries"—need not have feared loneliness. Linda could be useful and she was attractive. She was chic. She learned to dress well. Any old hat and knitted things didn't go. In Hollywood the fashion was sports clothes and evening clothes, and Linda's tailored white tweed, her broad-shouldered, slim-skirted tailcoat, her fresh violets, white or deep purple, which she always wore, her Paris-made evening frocks were distinguished where all clothes were beautiful. Her soft, clipped voice and her dignified bearing were often unkind contrast to her sensational sisters in the picture colony. Picture people wanted to know Linda for herself, as well as for what she could do for them.

She spent money recklessly on clothes. She bought a good car, not because she wanted to create an impression but because she liked to drive a good car. She gave parties. They were small and intimate. Dinners for four or six, at the most, and never for two. Sundays she was "at home" from 4 to 7, serving a discreet number of cocktails and excellent food. It became smart to be invited to a Bourne Sunday afternoon.

Linda knew the stars, the important directors, the producers. She went to the fights, the football games, to Palm Springs and Arrowhead for week-ends. She spoke a few words into the "micro" at the important openings at Sid Grauman's Chinese Theatre. She became a celebrity among celebrities, and she still wrote to Pete, but her letters grew less frequent and told him more than she thought. Pete knew he had lost her, and pride kept him from intruding into the life she had made for herself. Pete put himself into his play. And one day it was done and he sent it to New York.

Linda was in Hollywood eighteen months before she met Basil Thorne. Not that she didn't know him by name. Or by reputation. Thorne was the director who had made the great money-making musicals. His pictures had brought a new medium to picture-making. Extravaganzas, they were like their creator, dazzling, gargantuan, filled with contrasts, romantic, worldly and incredible.

Linda met Basil Thorne at Honey Harmon's bungalow at Malibu. She drove down with Cora Jarrett, editor of a movie fan magazine. "Maybe you'll like him, and maybe you won't. Most women do," Cora, speaking of Thorne, said to Linda. "It would be hard to describe him. I don't know whether he is a cad or a gentleman. I don't even know whether he is ugly or handsome. He's that kind. Most women are crazy about him, but maybe it's just Hollywood. He is having a cycle of blondes now."

"Cycle of blondes?" Linda asked. "Yes. When he first came it was the Dietrich type. Then he went in for gamins. Then he took the sophisticated ladies in his stride, so to speak, but now it's blondes. Must I say more?" "You might mention one," Linda answered. "Honey Harmon."

"Oh Honey, my patroness!" "Your hostess, will do," Cora answered. "We all know Honey bought your first script, but don't let her get the idea she has anything to do with your success. Honey has a way of making unexpected use of any little thing she thinks belongs to her. Incidentally, she thinks Thorne belongs to her. I thought I'd tell you just in case."

"I remember someone who belonged to me once and she wasn't above appropriating him," Linda said that before she meant to.

"In Hollywood?" Cora asked. "No," Linda answered briefly. "Just what I thought. You've been out here a couple of years and I haven't heard of a single romance. Linda, is it this someone back east?" "It isn't anybody at all. No romances. All work," Linda wanted Cora to get her mind off the subject. Cora was a Hollywoodite and she could use any information herself. Not that Linda had any to give her. There had been no romance in her life, unless she counted Pete, and after so many months that was so remote that Linda forgot most of the things she thought she would always remember about him. She thought of him now, and missed him suddenly. Not because he was Pete but because she was a girl and she had no one to love. Work, friends, parties, adulation never made up for the lack of love in any girl's life and, for the first time, Linda was beginning to realize it.

And then she met Basil Thorne.

Your Baby's Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Among the most important considerations in feeding a baby is its requirement for water.

The child being fed by the breast usually gets enough water in the milk. The infant being fed artificially should receive water between feedings.

This is of special significance in warm weather because of the increased evaporation from the surface of the body. In winter, with our over-heated and dry apartments, it also is well to be certain that the baby is getting the water that it needs.

The water requirement of a baby is about three times that of a grown-up. The reason is there is much activity in the baby's tissues because of its rapid rate of growth. Its output of heat is greater, in proportion to its weight, than that of a grown-up.

Large amounts of water taken into the body require a constant circulation of water from the blood to the intestines and back again, to take care of digestion and absorption of the food constituents. Since the amount of food taken is large, the amount of waste material also is large. This waste material is not all excreted in solid form, but is largely dissolved.

Of the water taken into the body, about 50 to 60 per cent goes out through the kidneys; 30 to 35 per cent in evaporation from the skin and the lungs, and 5 to 10 per cent by way of the bowels.

Two per cent is retained by the body to carry on the necessary chemical processes.

If a baby cries a great deal and exercises its limbs, the amount of water lost from the skin and the lungs will be increased. If the baby has diarrhea, the amount of water lost from the bowels may equal or even exceed the amount of water taken into the body.

If the baby vomits, water taken by the mouth may be returned directly and so be of no benefit to the body. Hence, one must be certain that the baby not only gets sufficient water, but that the water is retained and, in that way, is useful to the child's system.

It is also possible for large amounts of water to be lost by way of the lungs, when there is an increased rate of breathing, such as occurs in pneumonia or in severe conditions of acidosis.

The average normal baby receiving breast milk should obtain, daily, for the first year of its life, about 2 1/2 ounces of water for each pound of its body weight. This helps to take care of its needs when there is hot weather, or when some of the water is lost by diarrhea or vomiting.

A small excess of water will not produce any serious disturbance, but too much water given with the food will interfere with absorption of the food.

Incidentally, if the amount of milk given is too great, or if the dilution is too great, the baby is likely to vomit. When babies are fed artificially, the proteins and salts in the diet usually are higher, and there is increased elimination; so more water is required to take care of the output from the kidneys.

TOWN GOES BANKRUPT

St. Lambert, Que., June 16.—(Canadian Press)—This municipality became bankrupt today because the Quebec government resigned. With the dissolution of the house went a bill to authorize refinancing the city's debt. Mayor George F. An-crum's vote at a council meeting last night broke a three to three division for the declaration of the bankruptcy which would have been averted if the bill had passed.

B.B.C. Artist For Beaux-Arts Dance

Reservations are fast becoming scarce as the Beaux-Arts annual summer dance draws near. The affair this year will take the form of a southern plantation with a Dixie band, choruses and other attractions. Among the novelties on the programme will be selections on the piano by Jack Pittman, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Jack Barracough. Mr. Pittman is a musician of no mean repute, having just completed several years of playing over the B.B.C. network in the Old Country. Not only on the piano but on half-a-dozen other stringed instruments as well. Miss Hope Denbigh, 2726, is in charge of table reservations, which should be made early to ensure accommodation.

V.O.N. Busy With Many Free Cases

The Victorian Order of Nurses, during the month of May, paid a total of 665 free visits to 135 patients, 129 of whom were new on the register. Eighty-one of the nurses' visits were paid for at the pro rata fee and forty-nine of the visits received part payment.

The analysis of the figures shows that of the 129 new patients, seventy were medical cases, twenty communicable diseases, twelve surgical, twelve prenatal, two interrupted pregnancies, one emergency obstetrical, two infants of obstetricals, five postnatal and five infants of postnatal. There were 113 insurance visits.

Donations from the following were gratefully acknowledged by the board: Mrs. Allan, Mrs. Napier, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Parnow, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Drum, Mrs. Alex. Strath, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Poole, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Leard, Mrs. Yarrow, L. H. Children Delight Big Audience With Revue

Miss Mona Jewell's Pupils in Annual Dance Recital Last Night; to Aid Jubilee Children's Ward

There are few sights which afford more pleasure than that of little children dancing, and while the spectators who packed the hall may have felt an occasional tug at the heart in recalling that these little tots were dancing to benefit sick kiddies, their enjoyment of the delightful spectacle afforded by Miss Mona Jewell's annual dance revue at the Shrine Hall yesterday evening was spontaneous and sincere.

Arranged under the auspices of the Daughters of Pitt and in aid of their work for the children's ward at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, the affair was formally opened by Hugh Allan, chairman of the hospital board. He warmly commended the work of the Daughters of Pitt, and took occasion to thank Miss Jewell and her little pupils for their generosity in contributing the proceeds of the revue to this humanitarian work.

The programme was delightfully arranged, with charming costumes and clever stage settings. From the tiniest tot, who evoked spontaneous laughter when he evinced a baby curiosity in the audience beyond the footlights, despite the admonitions of a three-year-old girl who was appearing in the same dance ensemble, to the older and more advanced pupils, all showed evidence of careful training without sacrifice of their youthful charm and grace, and the frequent applause was as much for the teacher as for the little exponent of her art.

Variety was the key-note of the programme, including tap dances, in solos, duets and Highland flings, scarf dances, a saucy group of tiny sailorettes in nautical blouses and pants, ballet dances by tiny fairies in airy tulle, jazz toe dances, attractively costumed and spirited dances of national characters such as Mexican, Grecian, Russian, Spanish, Dutch, and Irish, jazz dances and soft shoe dances. In such a programme, all showed evidence of careful training without sacrifice of their youthful charm and grace, and the frequent applause was as much for the teacher as for the little exponent of her art.

Two little pupils of Miss Enid Cole were guest artists, little Sylvia Welsh scoring an instant success with her amusing tale of her first green apple and, later, her first haircut, and also "Home on the Range," in which she appeared as a typical cowboy, while Dorothy Smith also delighted the gathering with her recitation of "Sister's Beau" and "Home, Sweet Home."

Miss Jewell appeared herself as the skilled and graceful soloist in the "Patriotic" number, the chorus presenting a smart appearance in their red, white and blue novelty uniforms. The interpretative dances, such as was seen in "The Garden," with graceful little dancers in the role of Dawn, Butterfly, Primrose and similar symbolic figures, were artistically conceived and well executed.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Willis will sail aboard the R.M.S. Niagara tomorrow for a holiday trip to Honolulu. They expect to be away about three weeks.

Odd Make-up Required For Television

Blue Lips, Yellow Forehead and Bright Orange for Hostesses

London (Special Correspondence).—Two young women in London are learning to use the ugliest make-up. It consists of painting the lips blue, the forehead and neck dull yellow and cheeks bright orange.

But the girls like the effect of it—and so will thousands of men and women throughout England, Scotland and Wales. Here is the reason.

The girls are Miss Jasmine Bligh, aged twenty-two, and Miss Elizabeth Cowell, aged twenty-three. They are Great Britain's first "Television Hostess-Anouncers," chosen this week from 1,122 applicants for the British Broadcasting Corporation's new Alexandra Palace Television station near London. It will open shortly.

Television is a queer medium. Ordinary make-up will not "take," as the experts say. Only blue lips and orange-and-yellow faces appear in becoming black and white tones on the screen.

So Jasmine Bligh and Elizabeth Cowell are to sacrifice their natural good looks during working hours.

"We don't mind a bit," they told me when I was summoned to Broadcasting House in the heart of London to admire the B.B.C.'s choice.

"It's a pioneer job," explained Miss Cowell. "We have everything to gain and nothing to lose."

So, gay and carefree, the two girls start a new career for women.

Both are beautiful—and both possess what has been christened a "photogenic" face. This term originally meant "luminous" when applied to television. Now it means "capable of being photographed well."

Miss Bligh is tall and fair, with blue eyes. She is a niece of the Earl of Darnley, and has had three years' stage and film experience. She has traveled abroad extensively and speaks French fluently.

Miss Cowell is dark haired. She has soft brown eyes and a charming manner. Besides speaking both French and German fluently, she has had experience as a mannequin.

The voices of both girls are low-pitched and pleasant—two essentials for broadcasting work.

They will take turns to announce television programmes and act as hostesses to artists awaiting their turn before the microphone.

WOMEN PARADE IN GAS-MASKS

Despite the sultry glare of London's heat-wave this week-end, several hundred women have been marching about in gas-masks—for choice.

They were taking part in a "peace and freedom" demonstration arranged by the Women's Committee Against War and Fascism. Many of the women were wives of unemployed men, others were teachers.

All through the hot afternoon, the women, bathed in perspiration beneath their gas-masks, marched through the streets of London. When they reached Trafalgar Square, they were addressed by Communists, Socialists and other anti-Fascist speakers.

Later, the women—still wearing their gas-masks—passed a unanimous resolution declaring opposition to the British government's "war preparations" and its foreign policy "which has encouraged Fascist Italy in her aggression."

Held Garden Party—Capital City

No. 303, Loyal True Blues, held its annual garden party recently at the home of Mrs. J. T. Adams, 821 Esplanade Road. Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Cresline had charge of the home cooking and Mrs. Wilson the fancywork. House-houses was in charge of Mrs. Songhurst and Mrs. Adams presided at the tea table. During the afternoon various articles were raffled, the following being the prize-winners: Box of candy, Mrs. Huber, 187 Joseph Street; cushion, Miss Bennett, Frodley Avenue; cake, Mrs. Smith, Marysville; sweater, Mrs. Christensen, Esplanade Road; and salad dinner, Mrs. Songhurst, 1036 North Park Street. The next business meeting will be held in the Orange Hall, on Friday at 8 o'clock.

Local Women Honored By Grand Post

Native Daughters Name Victorians for Provincial Office

The annual convention of the Native Daughters of B.C. was held in Vancouver last Friday and Saturday, with the business meetings held at the old Hastings Mill, on Alma Road, the headquarters of Post No. 1 Native Daughters of B.C., Vancouver.

The morning session opened with the following Grand Post officers presiding: Past Grand Factor, Mrs. J. Ormsby-Lee, Langley; Grand Factor, Mrs. M. McRae, Nanaimo; Grand Vice-factor, Miss Jessie Nicholson, Ladysmith; Grand Chaplain, Miss J. Williamson, Vancouver; Grand Chief Guide, Mrs. J. A. Mackintosh, Victoria; Grand Assistant Guide, Miss Melba Menzies, Vancouver; Acting Grand Inner Sentinel, Mrs. H. Battie, Ladysmith; Grand Outer Sentinel, Mrs. R. F. Kerr, Langley; Grand Secretary, Miss Lenora Davidson, Nanaimo; Grand Treasurer, Mrs. A. Crook, New Westminster; Victoria; Grand Historian, Miss A. Archibald, New Westminster. Address of welcome was extended by Miss R. Astell, Chief Factor Post No. 1, Vancouver, and was replied to by the chief factor of business.

Items of business were then dealt with, Past Chief Factor Mr. J. Bennett and Past Chief Factor Mr. J. Ormsby-Lee conveyed greetings from the Grand Post Native Sons of B.C. A joint luncheon of the Native Sons and Daughters was held at the Georgia Hotel.

POST REPORTS

During the afternoon session the reports of the year's work of each subordinate post was read. An address was also given by the Grand Factor, Mrs. M. McRae, and Mr. L. Sangster of New Westminster Post gave a short talk on the granting of the franchise to Japanese in Canada.

Friday a joint banquet of the Native Sons and Daughters was held in the Artistic Ballroom of the Hotel Georgia, at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. A. M. Smith, Chief Factor, Native Sons Post No. 2, was the chairman. Interesting addresses were given by Mrs. Jessie Lee of Langley and Mr. Bruce A. McKelvie, Victoria. The "Toasts to the Pioneers" was proposed by Mr. John Bennett, Vancouver, and responded to most suitably by Mrs. A. McKelvie, president W.A. to the Pioneers' Association, and Mr. W. C. Dittmar, president, Pioneers' Association.

Sessions opened on Saturday at 9 o'clock at the Mill. Resolutions were passed re the Japanese franchise, the Grand Post being opposed to the granting of the franchise to Orientals before all the women of Canada have their franchise. The Grand Post of Native Daughters of B.C. also went on record to preserve peace and loyalty to the Crown and Empire to the utmost of their ability.

The Grand Post meeting will be held in Nanaimo for 1937. Nanaimo Post having kindly offered to act as hostess post.

The Patterson Cup presented for the best floor work was won in competition by Vancouver Post No. 1.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

The installation of the new officers was then held. The officers elected being: Past Grand Factor, Mrs. M. McRae, Nanaimo; Grand Factor, Miss Jessie Nicholson, Ladysmith; Grand Vice-factor, Miss Jessie Williamson, Vancouver; Grand Chaplain, Miss A. Archibald, New Westminster; Grand Historian, Miss Jean Lorimer, Victoria; Grand Treasurer, Mrs. K. Crook, Nanaimo; Grand Secretary, Miss A. Morrison, Ladysmith; Grand Auditor, Mrs. R. F. Kerr, Langley; Grand Chief Guide, Miss Melba Menzies, Vancouver; Grand Assistant Guide, Mrs. R. A. C. Grant, Victoria; Grand Inner Sentinel, Miss McKillan, Langley; Grand Outer Sentinel, Mrs. McLean, New Westminster. Miss J. Nicholson upon being installed in her new office spoke a few words of appreciation at being selected as Grand Factor of the Native Daughters of B.C.

A very pleasing ceremony took place when Past Grand Factor Mrs. H. A. Beckwith of Victoria presented Past Grand Factor Mrs. J. Ormsby-Lee of Langley and Past Grand Factor Mrs. M. McRae of Nanaimo, with their Past Grand Factor jewels.

On Saturday evening a joint meeting of the Native Sons and Daughters was held at the Elks Hall, when the Native Sons of Vancouver and New Westminster put on their initiation service, following which a most enjoyable informal dance was held.

The delegates attending from Victoria Post No. 2 were: Past Grand Factor Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, Past Chief Factor Mrs. J. A. Lorimer, Grand Chief Guide Mrs. J. A. Mackintosh, Chief Factor Miss Jean Lorimer, Chief Guide Mrs. Mildred Grant, and Auditor Miss Marjorie Gillies.

Garden Style Show.—A meeting of the Major John Hebdon-Gillespie Chapter, I.O.D.E. was held last night at the I.O.D.E. rooms in the Union Building. It was decided that the chapter hold a garden party and outdoor fashion show at "Windyside" on Fairfield Road on July 4 under the convenship of Mrs. Conway Parrot. Bathing costumes, play suits and apparel suitable for outdoor recreation will be shown and gowns especially designed for summer wear. The Hudson's Bay has kindly offered its aid in making possible this added attraction. There will be lawn games, fortune telling and tea will be served after 4 o'clock. The Junior Girl Guide company that the chapter has adopted sent in their annual report and thanked the chapter for its generosity. To take the place of two members who have left the city two new members were elected: Mrs. Kenneth McCannell and Mrs. Maurice Humber.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

NOW IS THE TIME TO DECIDE ON SUMMER DOSAGE OF COD LIVER OIL

The question of whether to omit cod liver oil, or to continue it through the summer, is a moot one at this season. One must admit that there is a difference of opinion, even among doctors. Cod liver oil—or any of the vitamin D products—is offered in the diet as a means of making up for the lack of sunlight during the winter months.

We cannot argue that sun is lacking in summer. It is more than probable that for the child of two, or over, no oil is needed during the months from June to September.

KEEP THE TASTE

But some experiments done on groups of babies to determine whether they would develop rickets in the summer, without cod liver oil, seemed to prove that more did develop rickets, even though exposed to sunlight, than developed it when given cod liver oil.

There is another argument which mothers have discovered out of their own experience, and that is: that it seems wiser to continue small doses of the oil during the summer months so that the baby won't lose his taste for it. Then when September comes, with its need for larger doses, the baby won't rebel against them.

HANG CLOTHES OUT WET

And just in line with the above I want to print a letter from a mother, not about cod liver oil doses, but about cod liver oil stains.

"It may interest some of your readers to know," writes Mrs. L. M. H. "that I have been able to remove cod liver oil stains perfectly, in the following way. I wash the stained garment thoroughly in soap and water and then hang it out in the sun, dripping wet. The secret is the wetness of the garment, and then the sun does the work."

I feel sure mothers wrestling with ugly, brown stains on children's clothes will appreciate this very simple method of removing them.

Tomorrow: "School Child Needs Free Time for Self-directed Play."

Saturday, June 20, keep this date for the Rose Show, Crystal Garden. ***

Telford Proposes $100 Per Month For Everyone

Socialized Money and Credit to Deal With Surpluses, Heavy Death Duties and Income Taxes, Wider Pension Schemes Given As Ideas For British Columbia By Vancouver Speaker

After harshly criticizing Liberal political leaders for allegedly promising things they did not fulfill, Dr. Lyle Telford, of Vancouver, outlined to an audience of some 800 at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening what he thought the C.C.F. could give the people when it came into power.

"Our socialism pledges a civilized standard of living to everyone. Then why not say so. Suppose we guarantee the opportunity for every family to earn $100 a month," he said. "There's no reason why we should not be able to do it if we have control of the government."

First task of the C.C.F., he declared, would be to challenge capitalism for the control of money and credit.

"I don't doubt we'll find an empty treasury and there'll be debts to pay two or three days after we come into power. Willie King won't give us anything and we can't go running to Herbie Holt for a nickel."

"I say the first thing we'll have to do is to bring in a law creating some form of socialized money and credit. The experts will figure out just what."

Dr. Telford stressed that these were just ideas, not the party platform.

SHOWDOWN ON FINANCE

The socialists must pick on finance for their showdown, he said. It was possible the Lieutenant-Governor would not sign the bill, or the federal government would disallow it. If such a thing happened, the Legislature should be dissolved immediately and an appeal made to the voters for a mandate.

"Then no lieutenant-governor nor federal government would dare stop us," he said.

With this power, he continued, the government could establish an exchange service in which tokens or scrip could be given for goods that could not now be sold and these tokens used in making re-purchases from the government warehouse. Surpluses could be sold through an export board on foreign markets for "real money."

This, he intimated, would be the basis for guaranteeing every family $100 a month income.

HEAVIER TAXES
"The people outside the province might not like our socialist money," he continued, "but there's two ways of getting money. One is to create it and the other is to take it from those who have it. We'd get the real money by taxes."

Death duties could be so levied as to ensure "the rich men going to heaven," he suggested, and income taxes would be steeply graded; leaving, say, $1,000 clear to everyone, but taking more and more for each successive $1,000 of income until above a certain level there would be no incentive to earn more.

He was against a sales tax, but believed hoarded money should be taxed at 1 per cent a month, or put into a provincial savings bank so it could be paid out in old age pensions.

"If the bankers didn't like these things we could easily threaten a moratorium on interest and they would be around next morning to talk it over," he declared.

He said the old age pension should be raised above $20 a month, possibly to $50, and the age limit lowered below seventy years, to sixty-five years as a starter.

He would have a sickness pension, giving a "civilized standard of living."

Mother's pensions should be arranged to "protect the children under all circumstances."

A person should be granted security in his home, say up to an equity of $3,000.

Housing schemes, state insurance, including compulsory auto insurance, control of transportation, price control, modernization of the courts and the judicial system, removal of tolls from roads and bridges, state medicine, a public utilities commission, encouragement of co-operatives and licensing of all businesses were other things he proposed.

"All I say may be wrong," he declared. "But I say let's try something. We may fail but let's take a chance."

"If for one, wouldn't make myself subservient to financial interests just because of the constitution. I say that anything that interferes with the right of our people to live properly is unconstitutional."

TO PRESS FOR SPECIAL GRANT

City Council to Keep Up Appeal to Governments For Assistance

Victoria will continue its efforts to secure special government grants in consideration of tax exemptions on government-owned property in view of the fact it is British Columbia's capital.

At yesterday evening's council meeting the mayor and aldermen heard a letter from Hon. Charles Dunning, federal Minister of Finance, explaining the Dominion Government's inability to make such a grant.

The explanatory clauses were such that the city considered its case strengthened.

Following the reading of a letter from the Prime Minister, Mackenzie King, acknowledging receipt of Victoria's resolution seeking special federal consideration, the letter from Mr. Dunning was read.

The federal government had no power to make such a grant to Victoria, the communication stated. It added, Ottawa received special treatment as the capital of Canada and because it furnished certain services for which it received no other compensation, the federal buildings being exempt from taxation.

SIMILAR CONDITIONS
Alderman J. D. Hunter, who drafted the original motion seeking the special grant, said he thought Victoria should be accorded similar treatment to Ottawa on the same grounds.

Alderman Archie Willis suggested a copy of the letter from Mr. Dunning be forwarded to Hon. John Hart, provincial Minister of Finance, as a precedent for making a special grant to the city.

Alderman Andrew McGavin noted Ottawa was the federal capital and was more entitled to special beautification assistance than Victoria.

The Dunning letter virtually admitted the grant to Ottawa was for certain services, Mayor Leeming remarked. Victoria, he claimed, provided similar services, furnishing police and fire protection for federal buildings.

He thought a copy of the Dunning letter should be forwarded to Premier King with a memorandum outlining J. Slater and F. Kroeger vs. C. Fraser and S. Crook.

W. J. Rennie and A. M. Murray vs. M. McKenzie and Hewitt.

W. Merriman and W. A. Evans vs. C. Groth and H. Gardner.

H. H. Pearce and H. A. Bates vs. A. McMillan and G. C. Wall.

A. Rutherford and P. Bennett vs. H. Kirkham and J. B. Smith.

The draw for Wednesday's games in the Greater Victoria Horseshoe Pitching Association tournament follows:

Geo. Ledingham and L. Doss vs. L. Cockrill and R. McKenzie.

J. Keating and H. Dundas vs. A. D. McLeod and A. Pinkerton.

Alderman Walter Luney drew attention to the old post office building, a tax exempt property for which the federal government was drawing rent in competition to private companies. He remarked upon the protection accorded the Outer Wharf, Government House and other structures.

On suggestion of members of the council, Alderman Hunter brought in a resolution to have copies of the Dunning letter forwarded to Premier King and to Dr. S. F. Tolmie.

He later agreed to a rider brought in by Alderman Willis to have copies also forwarded to Mr. Hart and Byron Johnson, M.P.P. for Victoria, with a request the latter two support an application for aid for this city from the provincial government similar to that given Ottawa.

The resolutions were carried.

ST. AGATHA HAS CLOSING EXERCISES

On Wednesday last St. Agatha's Junior School gave its summer concert, a fine programme, arranged chiefly from the work of the term, was given. The unsettled weather prevented the holding of proceedings in the grounds of the school, but the audience of about fifty was accommodated indoors. The friends of this school who have followed its development from earlier years have always looked for an unusual treat whenever these young children perform, and they were not disappointed. Great appreciation was expressed by the two guest speakers, Dean Quinlan and the Rev. E. F. Church.

The principal, Mrs. R. E. Large, who is assisted by her daughter, Miss Hope Large, spoke briefly on the aims and character of the school.

The playlet, entitled "Another Midsummer Night's Dream," written by the principal for her little pupils, was the first item on the programme. The characters were as follows: The Child, Shirley Olsen; the Fairy Butterfly, Janice Olsen; the Elf, Donald Davidson; the Human Boy, Keith Douglas; Dr. Foster, Forbes Scroggie; the Sailor Boy Doll, Jim Pritchard; the Best Wax Doll, Thirrell Lipsey; the "Mama" Doll, Jean Cunningham; and the Japanese Dolls, Donald and Ian Davidson.

This was followed by a scene from "As You Like It," which was performed by these young children with remarkable grace and ease; it was evident that they entered into the spirit of the words, which they recited with excellent diction and enunciation.

Three old English classics were sung, followed by the minuet, the two couples dancing being Shirley and Peter Olsen and Jean Cunningham and Donald Davidson. All the costumes were in accordance with the period represented.

A certificate, hand-painted by Miss Large, was awarded to each child and presented by the Dean, who also presented a book each to Forbes Scroggie and Keith Douglas as a mark of approval for excellent progress at the school by their cubmaster, Mr. Annet.

At the close a beautiful basket of flowers was presented to Mrs. Large from the pupils by four-year-old Janice Olsen.

CITY PURCHASES TWO NEW AUTOS

Purchase of two new cars and one motorcycle was authorized by the City Council yesterday evening.

On the recommendation of the fire wardens, the council decided to buy a Buick sedan from Davis-Drake Co. for $1,800 complete and at the request of the police commission, a new prowl car for the police department from Jameson Motors Limited at a cost of $600. A new motorcycle will be purchased for the police at a cost of $535 from the Brookland Motorcycle Works.

Purchase of firemen's hats from David Spencer Limited, at a price of $190, was also authorized.

Requests for cars for the parks department and the water commissioner were also heard at the meeting.

ITALIANS SAY TIME AIDS HER

People Say Months Add to Transformation Under Sanctions

Associated Press

Rome, June 16.—Italy expects time to work in her favor in prospective sanctions discussions, high Fascist sources said today.

Premier Mussolini's nation, which next Thursday will begin its eighth month under the war penalties, was declared by Italian economists to be as strong now as before the League of Nations condemned her aggression in East Africa. Crumbling of sanctions was expected.

Diplomatic and economic Fascist sources listed seven developments which the application of war penalties has brought to Rome. They were:

1. Loss of some foreign markets which may or may not be regained later.

2. A tremendous effort to develop Italian raw materials and discover synthetic substitutes for commodities cut off by sanctions.

3. Transformation of the nature of her imports, eliminating luxuries almost entirely from the list and concentrating on necessary and available raw materials.

4. Startling decline in both exports and imports accompanied by a corresponding decrease in the national trade deficit.

5. An appreciable drop in "invisible" exports, such as tourist expenditures, steamship revenue and freight charges. This decrease was declared partly compensated by gifts from Italians living abroad.

6. Crippling or crushing of some small industries not engaged in manufacturing materials of war and dependent on foreign trade. Economists said these losses were counterbalanced by increased business in other lines.

7. Progress in Il Duce's project to make Italy more independent, preparatory for a possible European conflict for which the dictator said "the wheels of fate turn fast."

Victoria Track and Field Stars Are Ready For Major Meets

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

EFFORTS of Victoria's football leaders to get somewhere in the Dominion Cup series were brought to a sudden ending on Saturday afternoon when the local representative eleven suffered a stunning defeat at the hands of Nanaimo City in the first round. It was an unfortunate defeat in that this was the first time this city has fielded a representative side and it would have been encouraging for the club to have at least reached the provincial final. The two-goal margin Nanaimo won by Saturday was certainly not a true indication of the play. The Victoria team had more than its share but was just unable to get goals and they are what will make the difference. Nanaimo took advantage of its scoring chances and still two of the visitor's goals were of the soft variety.

Although the team did not get far in its bid for national honors the idea of an all-star eleven representing Victoria in the Dominion Cup play is a good one. Any one of Victoria's individuals in first division clubs would not have fared as well Saturday. Those responsible for the rep team are to be congratulated on the work and time they gave to building the team and they should make every effort to carry on the scheme next season. It must be remembered that the Victoria team lost two of its most valuable men, goalie Louis DeCosta and right winger Gordie Bell, on the eve of the match. This was unfortunate, as these men would have made a great difference to the local's attacking and defensive power. The mere absence of DeCosta had a demoralizing effect on the remainder of the Victoria players.

Performances of track stars throughout the United States on Saturday afternoon leads one to believe the Americans will have a great track and field team to take part in the forthcoming Olympic Games at Berlin. If Saturday's individuals retain their present form until August, Outstanding feat was that of the University of Indiana two-miler Don Lash who shattered Paavo Nurmi's two mile world record.

Running over a rain-soaked track and practically without competition after the first few laps, Lash finished the two miles in 8:58.5, more than a second faster than Nurmi's world mark of 8:59.8. While Lash's feat was by far the best of the day, it was by no means the only one which promised good things for the Olympics.

At Columbus, Ohio, where the country's two outstanding college teams, Southern California and Ohio State, divided the honors in a dual meet, in the regional trials at Palo Alto, Cal., and at Milwaukee and Grand Rapids, Mich., important performances were marked up. Ohio's great negro star, Jesse Owens, whose place on the Olympic team is almost certain, equalled the world record of 9.4 seconds for the 100-yard dash. Roy Sisley, California, timber topping ace, equalled the world record of 14.3 seconds for the regular 120-yard high hurdles, and then clipped 1-10 second off that mark in an exhibition race.

Two great "quarters" also were listed at Palo Alto and Princeton. Archie Williams, the California negro flash, won the west coast 400 metres in 45.3 seconds, just 1-10 second short of Bill Carr's world record; while Jimmy Luvall, Southern California, set a Princeton Stadium record of 47.1 seconds for the 440 yards in upsetting Eddie O'Brien, Syracuse, and Ray Ellinwood, Chicago.

Canada's Touring Cricketers Draw

Toronto, June 16.—Despite a smashing century by Lloyd Percival, clever Toronto batsman, Hon. R. C. Matthews' Canadian cricket team was drawn to a draw by a selected Ontario eleven, Saturday.

Bruce Humber to Run For "Y" In Olympic Trials

University of Washington Sprinter on Team For Vancouver Meet July 1

RELEASE ENTRY FOR CIVIC MEET

Two major sports meets in the offing will test the mettle of local and up-island track and field stars. The best of the flying Y squad will don their spikes for the big Civic Federation Employees' meet at Macdonald Park on June 23, and a week later, an equally strong squad of runners representing the cream of Vancouver Island's track and field crop will journey to the mainland for the provincial Olympic trials on July 1.

Nine local and up-island athletes and Bruce Humber, Washington University flash, and possibly Doug Taylor, former California University broad jumper, will represent Victoria in the trials on July 1. VALUABLE ADDITIONS. Boosted by the valuable addition of the two above-mentioned local boys who have been attending United States universities, the "Y" squad will be a formidable one when it takes the trip to the mainland. It will include Joe Addison, Paul Rowe, Bill Dale, Chuck Cunningham, Owen Bentley, Al Imrie, Grant Williams, Hugh Thomson and Charlie Williams.

In addition to local runners who will compete in the forthcoming civic meet there will be a strong contingent from the mainland, including runners from the interior. Trail will send Joe Haley, one of British Columbia's outstanding trackmen, and Paul Haley, who is rated by interior experts to be as good as anybody in the province in the 100, 220 and 440 yards dashes.

DERBY VICTOR IS DEFEATED

Mahmoud Runs Second to Rhodes Scholar in Stakes As Ascot Meet Opens

Canadian Press, Ascot, England, June 16.—Major J. B. Walker's Boudnor today won the Ascot Stakes by two lengths from Sir Percy Lorain's Coup de Roi. A short head away in third place was Sir Ernest Tate's Blue Girl.

A field of thirty-four ran in the two-mile handicap, one of the two feature races for the opening day of the brilliant Ascot racing meeting. Boudnor was quoted at 20 to 1. Both Coup de Roi and Blue Girl were 33 to 1 shots. Major Walker's four-year-old carried an impost of 102 pounds.

The season provided the customary pageant of styles today. Owing to court mourning, however, neither the King nor other members of the Royal Family were present. Anthony de Rothschild's Rondo won the Gold Vase with a margin of one and one-half lengths over Gordon Smith's Fearless Fox. The Duke of Norfolk's Bel Aethel was third, two lengths further back.

Rondo was quoted at 20 to 1. Fearless Fox at 2 to 1 and Bel Aethel at 100 to 1. Seventeen ran over the two-mile route. Lord Astor's Rhodes Scholar, held at 2 to 1, won the one-mile St. James's Palace Stakes by five lengths over the Aga Khan's Mahmoud, derby winner and odds-on favorite at 8 to 11. Sir George Bullough's Daytona was third. Five ran.

German Net Stars Make Clean Sweep

Berlin, June 16.—Germany's Davis Cup team completed its sweep of the European zone semi-final series with Ireland Sunday, winning the final two singles matches for a 6 to 0 victory. Heiner Henkel turned back G. Lyttleton Rogers in straight sets, 6-2, 6-0, 6-0, and Baron Gottfried Von Gramm disposed of T. G. McVeagh, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1.

STEVEN A. CLARK, 74, of Santa Ana, Cal., CAN SUPPORT 14 OF HIS GRANDCHILDREN AND 500 LBS. IN WEIGHTS AT THE SAME TIME! A COMBINED WEIGHT OF 979 LBS!

AROUND THE WORLD FOR 24¢!

MAGELLAN, AN OFFICER IN PORTUGAL'S ARMY, RESIGNED WHEN THE KING REFUSED TO RAISE HIS SALARY 24 CENTS. HE THEN ORGANIZED AND CAPTAINED THE FIRST EXPEDITION TO CIRCUMNAVIGATE THE WORLD!

24-CENT VOYAGE

A king's miserliness in refusing to grant a salary raise of 24¢ a month was directly responsible for the first voyage around the world!

Ferdinand Magellan, after seeing considerable action as an officer in King Manuel of Portugal's military forces at a top salary of $2.25 per month, was so severely wounded in a battle against Moors in Morocco, early in the sixteenth century, that he became unfit for combat service and was placed in charge of the cattle and horses captured from the enemy.

Accused of selling the livestock back to the Moors, Magellan deserted and, returning to Lisbon, the Portuguese capital, with proof of his innocence, he presented himself to the king and cleared himself of the charges. Seizing the possible opportunity of improving his miserable financial status, he appealed to King Manuel for a 24¢ per month salary increase. Denied it, he once more asked for a raise and, bitter over the second refusal, resigned his commission.

Renouncing his nationality, Magellan went to Spain where he allied himself with Ruy Palero, an astronomer and navigator. Here they worked out plans for seeking a western route to the Moluccas and financed by King Charles V of Spain, Magellan organized a fleet of five ships, embarking on his voyage September 20, 1519.

Though he himself was destined to be killed by natives in the Philippine Islands, Magellan's flagship, the Victoria, continued on its voyage, completing the first circumnavigation of the globe, in 1522.

GRANDFATHER STRONG MAN

Performing feats of strength well high incredible for a man of his advanced age, Steven Clark, Southern California blacksmith, issues a challenge to any man in the United States over sixty to duplicate them.

Clark attributes his amazing strength to clean living, regular exercises, fresh air and faith in religion. He trains with an eighty-pound dumbbell held straight over his head, and can high kick thirteen inches over his head.

Tomorrow: The Robber Tree.

SIDNEY NINE KEEPS LEAD

Defeats Saanich Service Club 7 to 5; Bruins and Tigers Victors

Sidney softballers managed to hold their slim lead in the B section race yesterday evening when they nosed out the North Saanich Service Club nine, 7 to 5.

Another close game saw Bruins defeat Saanich, 8 to 5, on the latter's home grounds.

Tigers had little trouble with the Navy A, whom they swamped, 18 to 4, at Victoria West Park. The win brought them into a third-place tie with North Saanich. The Togo Cleaners-Hollywood Club match, which was to have been played at Memorial Park, was postponed, owing to wet grounds.

Sidney took the lead in the fifth inning over the N.S.S.C. and held it. Byers, operating on the hill for Sidney, pitched good ball and fanned five. He got good support. Heal did well on the mound for the N.S.S.C. ball players, but lack of support from his teammates handicapped him.

Score by innings: N.S.S.C. 000400010-5 Sidney 00021200X-7 Batteries—Heal and Lines; Byers and Eckart.

FOUR HOME RUNS

Hammering out thirteen safeties for as many runs in a seventh-inning bombardment, which included four home runs, Tigers smothered the sailors at Victoria West Park. Lloyd Knapp nipped the pitcher for two circuit drives and Holness and Hornby also got homers.

The Tigers secured fifteen safeties from the slants of Candy and Barker. Tommy Johnson, moundman for the Bengals, allowed five hits.

Score by innings: Navy A 010011001-4 Tigers 10003119X-18 Batteries—Candy, Barker and McLeod; Johnson and Harris.

Local Ringsters Seek B.C. Titles

Wilmer Allison Wrenches Back

London, June 16.—Wilmer Allison, United States singles tennis champion, is suffering from a badly wrenched back, it was revealed yesterday.

BAER PROVES EASY VICTOR

Former Heavyweight Champion Clowns Way to Win Over Tony Souza

Salt Lake City, June 16.—Max Baer, erstwhile playboy and dethroned heavyweight boxing champion of the world, clowning and slugging his way to a decision over Tony Souza, San Francisco, in a "comeback" six-round bout yesterday evening.

Baer, weighing 226 pounds, floored Souza, 220, twice in the second round and three times in the fifth, but otherwise looked only a shell of the batter who smashed his way to the heavyweight title.

Baer's excessive poundage about his midriff slowed him down, and except for the two bursts of slugging, he displayed little to warrant consideration among the present crop of heavyweights—such as Joe Louis.

Baer's blows carried power when he let loose, but he failed to follow up an advantage in the fifth when he downed his opponent three times for short counts.

A crowd of some 3,000 booed Baer's battering several times, particularly Souza's "hanging on" tactics.

Referee Al Abbott, Bingham, Utah, unhesitatingly raised Baer's hand at the final bell.

MAN MOUNTAIN TO QUIT RING

317-pound Bearded Dean Will Leave Wrestling; Has Made $300,000

Los Angeles, June 16.—The 317-pound bearded phenomenon of wrestling, Man Mountain Dean, Brooklyn, announced today his retirement from the mat.

For all except movie purposes, said Dean, he will wrestle no more after he clashes with Vincent Lopez, California, recognized heavyweight champion, here tomorrow night.

"I've got enough put away to live in luxury for the rest of my life," declared Dean.

"I'm not getting any younger—forty-five, to be exact. So win, lose or draw against Lopez I'm through."

The Man Mountain said his immediate work was the role of a Russian wrestler in a new film.

"After that I intend to shave off these pesky whiskers."

Yet it was the foliage on his face that turned Dean from just another fat man into a weird drawing card that helped promoters gross more than $1,000,000 in the last four years, according to Dean's figures.

He estimates his own fortune at nearly $300,000.

He grew the beard in October, 1932, when he was signed to double for Charles Laughton in the British movie, "The Private Life of King Henry VIII."

"I have grossed more money in four years than Ruth, Dempsey, London or anyone else in sport over that same period, boasted the bearded one.

Ten Victoria Boxers and Wrestlers Open Bids Tonight For Provincial Championships at Vancouver; Ninety-five Entered in Many Divisions

Vancouver, June 16.—About ninety-five boxers and wrestlers, with all degrees of ability and coming from all parts of the province, will step confidently through the ropes at the auditorium tonight as the British Columbia boxing and wrestling championships get under way.

Sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union, the bouts will also serve as a form of elimination for the Olympic Games this summer, and have attracted many amateur champions.

Among the invaders seeking notice through the eliminations tonight is a battery of five boxers and an equal number of wrestlers from Victoria, confident they will etch their names on the winning side of the programme.

Prominent among the Victoria wrestlers are two 174-pounders, Joe Effa and Charles Bell. Tonight Effa meets Jack McLeod, Vancouver, while Bell takes on Charles Le Beau, also of Vancouver.

Robert Carrington of Trail, holder of the Dominion amateur lightweight crown, but turned a welterweight, climbs through the ropes against Tommy Turner, Vancouver.

BOUNTS TONIGHT

Outside entries for tonight's draw include:

In the boxing: Rod McAuley of Vancouver, vs. Bobby Parker of Victoria, at 118 pounds; Pete Tassin of Ladysmith, vs. Gordie Smith of Vancouver, 118 pounds; Douglas Powell, Vancouver, vs. Fred Buxton, Victoria, 136 pounds; Jack Patterson, Victoria, vs. Lewis Perry, Vancouver, 147 pounds; Victor Rios, Vancouver, vs. Rex Carey, Victoria, 160 pounds; Harry Heigson of Sooke, vs. Chuck Nickerson, Vancouver, heavyweight.

In the wrestling: Eric Whitehead, Victoria, vs. Floyd Eno, Powell River, 134 pounds; Rudy Loeffler, Victoria, vs. Doug Vogler, Vancouver, 145 pounds; Harold Whitehead, Victoria, vs. James Whyte, Vancouver, 158 pounds; Jack McLeod, Vancouver, vs. Joe Effa, Victoria, 174 pounds, and Charles Le Beau, Vancouver, vs. Charles Bell, Victoria, 174 pounds.

L. J. HIBBERSON IS GOLF WINNER

In the medal round at Uplands on Sunday, L. J. Hibberson was the winner with a gross score of 76 which his handicap reduced to a net 61. For second place Alan Riches and A. Yelland tied with net 70's.

REVENUES IN CITY HIGHERConsistent Increases Shown in Prepaid and Arrears
Collections

Revenues continued to flow into the city's coffers through prepaid and arrears collections in consistently higher volume than last year, collections for the period ending Saturday show.

In the prepaid section an increase of $35,905.40 over the period up to June 15 last year was shown when the figures were announced today. This year's prepaid, up to Saturday, totaled $441,430.56, including the interest allowance, while the corresponding total for 1935 amounted to $405,525.16.

In neither case was interest deducted.

While figures for the arrears collections were naturally below those on the current levy, the increase in collections this year was even more impressive.

Up to Saturday $89,923.22 had been paid in against $75,467.13 for the similar period of 1935. The increase this year amounted to $14,456.09.

ANOTHER BERLIN BABY

New York, June 16 (Associated Press).—Doctors Hospital announced early today that an eight pound two ounce baby girl was born to Mrs. Irving Berlin, wife of the song writer. The hospital said both the baby and the mother, the former Ellen Mackay, were "doing very nicely."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Tenders for the removal of the remains of the Central Park bandstand will be called shortly by the City Council.

Theft of $12 from the principal's office of the Oaklands school, yesterday evening, was reported to the city police this morning.

Convicted on a charge of failing to return to the scene of an accident, Jack Kibgaard was fined $20 in the Esquimalt Police Court yesterday afternoon.

A next-of-kin committee meeting of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion will be held Friday evening next at 8 o'clock in the branch headquarters, View Street.

It was decided to assess each member of the Kiwanis Club $1 a head to send ten boys to the Y camp at Sooke for a week this year, at the weekly luncheon meeting of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman left home at the beginning of January, and since that time their green Pierce-Arrow sedan with its blue and orange Virginia plates has made its way all over the south, into Mexico and up the Pacific Coast. They plan to be back home by July 1.

Mr. Freeman spoke this morning of the excellent government of his home state, Virginia and Vermont, he said, were the only states which had not asked for federal relief. The Virginia Legislature only met every two years for sixty days, but it got plenty of business done. State taxes were reasonable; there was no sales tax, and the state paid as it went without a heavy burden of debt.

Mr. Freeman was impressed with the improvement in the condition of roads on the North American continent since he last went on an extended automobile tour nine years ago. He found that he could cover exactly twice the distance in a day now.

Representatives of freight-bearing steamship lines from all over the Pacific Coast are meeting at the Empress Hotel today for the Pacific Westbound Conference, an event held three times each year and alternating between California and the North Pacific Coast.

J. G. McInnis, foreign freight agent of the Canadian Pacific, with headquarters in Vancouver, is presiding at the meetings, which will continue for another one or two days.

Delegates are taking part in the discussions this morning, and another ten were expected to arrive during the course of the day.

Saying that he was here purely on holiday, and that he really did not have much to talk about, Mr. I. L. Cappel of London was at the Empress Hotel today. Mr. Cappel plans to leave tomorrow.

Harry E. Webb, wealthy retired mining engineer of Santa Barbara, California, was at the Empress Hotel this morning in the course of a combined business and pleasure trip to the Pacific Northwest. Mr. Webb will go over to Vancouver tonight to discuss financial business before returning home. He motored up here from California.

Mrs. I. A. MacLeod of Edinburgh arrived at the Empress yesterday for a four-day stay in the course of an extended holiday tour.

Latest to join the California contingent at the Empress are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dornin, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Sanders, San Francisco; Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, Piedmont; Mrs. J. J. Jettie and Mrs. G. O. Harriman, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. J. Vernon, Long Beach; Miss T. Hoffman, San Francisco; Mrs. J. S. Sovey and Miss B. M. Williams, Salinas; O. A. May and Mrs. F. L. Day, Santa Barbara; Miss A. McAnner, Sacramento; Mrs. L. W. San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. P. Jennings, Los Angeles; Mrs. E. E. Rendall, Los Angeles; C. Winkler, San Francisco; Miss K. Lippitt, Beverly Hills; Mr. and Mrs. L. Kornhangler, Los Angeles; Miss A. Van Deusen, Beverly Hills; E. J. H. Jettie, San Francisco; Mrs. A. A. Curtice, Los Angeles; R. T. Forbes, Long Beach; Miss T. T. Huckle, San Francisco; P. F. Allen, Oakland, and H. H. Pierson, San Francisco.

Other United States visitors at the Empress today include Mr. and Mrs. W. Aitchison, Spokane; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Graber, Chicago; Miss Betty Rutherford, Great Falls, Mont.; Mrs. A. E. Bez, Cincinnati; A. Barnett, New York City; Mrs. E. S. Phillips, Evanston, Ill.; and Miss E. L. Nickerson, Chicago.

J. F. Abel of Washington, D.C., is among United States visitors at the Dominion Hotel.

In search of "possible locations" for his forthcoming picture, "Vengeance of the Forest," Kenneth J. Bishop, president and producer of Central Films Limited, left the Dominion Hotel this morning for Jordan River.

United States visitors at the Strathcona Hotel today include Mrs. T. Johnson and J. H. Johnson, Alameda, Cal.; Miss Etta Friedenburg, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Taylor, Pueblo, Colo.; and Frank K. Moore, San Francisco.

Toronto, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Toronto Conference of the United Church in Canada yesterday selected Rev. Dr. Peter Bryce, Toronto, as its nominee for the position of moderator of the whole church, to be selected at the next general conference.

Back from a four weeks' trip to eastern Canada and U.S., in course of which he studied methods of the most up-to-date traveling libraries, Dr. Kaye Lamb, Provincial Librarian and secretary of the Public Library Commission, today said he thought some improvements could be made in the system employed in British Columbia.

Generally speaking, however, he found that the B.C. traveling library compared favorably with those elsewhere. Some 550 lots of books in amounts of 100 or less are shipped to outlying parts of the province from Victoria and Prince George, the two centres. In all, about 50,000 books a year are handled.

Dr. Lamb visited Toronto, Madison, Wis., and St. Paul, Minn., where the traveling libraries are regarded as model systems.

Dr. Lamb went to Ottawa to go through the archives and attended meetings of the Canadian Historical Association and the Royal Society of Canada.

Frank Paulding, thanked the speaker for his address and expressed the regret of the club that Mr. MacKenzie was leaving the city. William Lunney was in the chair.

The Catholic Young People's Club will hold its monthly educational meeting on Thursday, June 18, instead of Wednesday, in the K. of C. Hall, at 8:30 o'clock. The meeting will take the form of a general knowledge night similar to that which proved so popular last month.

Dr. W. E. Harper, Dr. J. A. Pearce, Dr. G. G. MacKenzie and Dr. Andrew McKellar left on the Seattle boat yesterday to attend the meeting of the American Association of Advancement of Science in the Sound city. Dr. Harper addressed the first session today on "Stellar Spectroscopy." Tomorrow Dr. Pearce will give an address before the joint subsection of astronomy and physics on the subject "Galactic Rotation." Further sessions of the meeting will be held in Victoria on Friday and Saturday, when the astronomy subsection will hear the remainder of the papers up for discussion at the astronomical observatory.

A revolt from modern conditions was seen as the main cause of crime by Rev. C. G. MacKenzie in a talk before the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel today.

"In the old days we used to be able to say the criminal had had a poor upbringing, but certainly not today," Mr. MacKenzie declared. "In most cases these young boys and girls who fill our prisons have been well educated and have gone to Sunday school."

The conditions of modern life have changed heavily upon all people, and there was a large and growing group, because they have reacted differently, revolted against these conditions, the speaker said.

He drew attention to the work of the local branch of the John Howard Society.

"It is time we were doing something about our penal code," Mr. MacKenzie said. "Our system punishes. Having given a young lad a chance to study crime from experts, we send him out with a stigma attached to his name; we bar all doors to him, then we expect him to make good, and we blame him if he does not."

The speaker described the work of the society in which he served during the last year as secretary. Into their office had come over 100 ex-prisoners, and they actually kept contact with over forty of them.

He cited a particular case of a young boy who had come out of the penitentiary without any hope and had finally come to them. They had started him off and now he was married and happy, giving satisfaction to his employer and paying back the money the society had lent him.

"Kiwanis could do no better than to appoint a committee to work with the John Howard Society," Mr. MacKenzie said.

No Earthquake
Just U.S. GunsRattling and Rumbling Felt Here Due to Firing at Port Townsend

Victorians have been having all the chills and thrills of an earthquake without really experiencing one. Both yesterday and today there were reports of strange rumblings that seemed as though they came from the bowels of the earth.

Windows rattled, pictures swayed, doors slammed and even chairs have moved.

On investigating, The Times discovered that the city was not suffering from a tremor, but from a gun practice near Port Townsend.

Secrecy masks all military manoeuvres, but it is understood that the rumbling and rattling which citizens have felt was caused by the firing of the huge guns at Port Townsend.

Warden and Port Casey, the two United States artillery bases that guard the entrance to Puget Sound.

Now long this firing will continue is not known, but it is expected that it will not last for much more than three or four days. The guns are believed to be of the giant emplacement type whose recoil is probably intensified by the rocks and sea.

The Dominion Meteorological Observatory received so many inquiries this morning about the disturbance that in desperation it disconnected the telephone.

The telephone bell has been ringing all morning," said W. A. Thorn, director of the observatory. "We couldn't get any more done, so we had to leave the receiver off."

He blamed the South-east wind for the whole trouble. The wind had carried the sound of the guns over here and caused the rattling and rumbling that frightened so many Victorians.

There was not the slightest movement in the earth, he said, and the seismographs showed nothing.

The rattling of the windows, the slamming of the doors, and all the phenomena of earthquake which so many had felt was caused by the contraction and expansion of the air due to the sound of the heavy artillery, he said.

The opening of week night concert sponsored by the Tourist Trade Development Association aboard the Show Board in the Innes Harbor, was postponed yesterday evening until Thursday owing to inclement weather. Al Reynolds and his orchestra will take part in the programme.

Study of the free port question as it affects Victoria will be undertaken by the business and trades development committee, along with a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The City Council yesterday evening referred a letter from the chamber on the matter to its standing group for consideration.

T. J. Goodlake, secretary of the Victoria Automobile Club, this morning highly praised the newly-reconstructed stretch of the Island Highway at Goldstream. The road has just been recently opened and is now in perfect shape, and cars ride over it gracefully, Mr. Goodlake said he would like to see the whole Island Highway that way.

The weekly card party of the Victoria West Liberal Social Club will be held this evening in the clubrooms, 414 Skinner Street. Progressive five hundred will be played and refreshments served. The monthly business meeting of the club will be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. All members in good standing are requested to attend.

"Kiwanis could do no better than to appoint a committee to work with the John Howard Society," Mr. MacKenzie said.

Frank Paulding, thanked the speaker for his address and expressed the regret of the club that Mr. MacKenzie was leaving the city. William Lunney was in the chair.

The Catholic Young People's Club will hold its monthly educational meeting on Thursday, June 18, instead of Wednesday, in the K. of C. Hall, at 8:30 o'clock. The meeting will take the form of a general knowledge night similar to that which proved so popular last month.

Dr. W. E. Harper, Dr. J. A. Pearce, Dr. G. G. MacKenzie and Dr. Andrew McKellar left on the Seattle boat yesterday to attend the meeting of the American Association of Advancement of Science in the Sound city. Dr. Harper addressed the first session today on "Stellar Spectroscopy." Tomorrow Dr. Pearce will give an address before the joint subsection of astronomy and physics on the subject "Galactic Rotation." Further sessions of the meeting will be held in Victoria on Friday and Saturday, when the astronomy subsection will hear the remainder of the papers up for discussion at the astronomical observatory.

A revolt from modern conditions was seen as the main cause of crime by Rev. C. G. MacKenzie in a talk before the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel today.

"In the old days we used to be able to say the criminal had had a poor upbringing, but certainly not today," Mr. MacKenzie declared. "In most cases these young boys and girls who fill our prisons have been well educated and have gone to Sunday school."

The conditions of modern life have changed heavily upon all people, and there was a large and growing group, because they have reacted differently, revolted against these conditions, the speaker said.

He drew attention to the work of the local branch of the John Howard Society.

"It is time we were doing something about our penal code," Mr. MacKenzie said. "Our system punishes. Having given a young lad a chance to study crime from experts, we send him out with a stigma attached to his name; we bar all doors to him, then we expect him to make good, and we blame him if he does not."

The speaker described the work of the society in which he served during the last year as secretary. Into their office had come over 100 ex-prisoners, and they actually kept contact with over forty of them.

Obituary

JAGINDAR SINGH

With the customary Hindu rites, the funeral of Jagindar Singh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mayo Singh of Mayo, took place this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Mayo hall, near Duncan. The boy, who was born in Victoria in March, 1931, was taken ill with spinal meningitis on May 1 and removed to St. Joseph's Hospital. After two weeks' treatment he showed signs of improvement, but suffered a relapse on Wednesday and passed away last night. The boy is survived by his parents, one sister and two brothers. Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel were in charge of the arrangements.

ETHEL TRACE

The death occurred this morning at St. Joseph's Hospital of Mrs. Ethel Trace, wife of W. F. Trace of 3361 Alder Street, Saanich, aged forty-three years. Mrs. Trace was born in St. Ives, Cornwall, England, and had been a resident of this city for seventeen years. She is survived by her widower, three daughters, Rita, Beth and Laura, and five sons, Alwyn, Walter, William, Anthony and David Trace, all at home. Funeral services will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel on Thursday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Clem Davies officiating. Interment will be in Colwood Burial Park.

HUGH ARCHIBALD YODALL

Many sorrowing friends were present in St. Mary's Church yesterday at the funeral of Hugh Archibald Yodall, Rev. Canon A. de L. Nunnis conducting the service, during which the hymns "Abide With Me" and "The Twenty-third Psalm" were sung. Beautiful floral tributes were received. The following were the pallbearers: P. Swannell, representing the Corporation of British Columbia Land Surveyors; C. D. Orchard, F. D. Mull, Holland and A. E. Collins, representing the British Columbia Forest Service; W. T. Barrett, representing the Department of Lands, and F. C. Green, the Surveyor-General. The remains were laid to rest in Colwood Burial Park.

JAMES KERR ANGUS

Funeral services for James Kerr Angus, who passed away last Friday, were held yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Masonic order. The hymns sung were "Nearer, My God to Thee" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." After the service, the remains were forwarded to Vancouver for cremation.

WANT CODEINE

on Drug By Restoring It to Narcotic List

Restoration of codeine to the narcotic list of Canada will be urged upon the Department of National Pensions and Health this morning following a resolution passed at the forty-sixth annual convention of the British Columbia Pharmaceutical Association which concluded its business sessions at noon.

Delegates spoke of the difficulty which had been encountered in the handling of codeine and of the various "rackets" which had been employed to distribute it among dope addicts, particularly in Vancouver.

It was apparent the drug was either being smuggled into the province or being illegally handled by some druggist which made it impossible to keep an accurate check on the supply.

It was felt it should be restored to the narcotic list to provide the means of checking it. If it is placed on the list druggists will only be able to handle it on prescription and even then it must be signed for.

Other business of this morning's session included a general survey of health insurance proposed for British Columbia, presented by J. Vana Macdonald of Vancouver, chairman of the association's special committee on the subject.

Mr. Macdonald dealt with briefs which had been presented to the hearings committee on behalf of the pharmacists and also spoke of other phases of the investigations. The committee was instructed to continue its negotiations.

TWO MEN GIVEN PRISON TERMS

Canadian Press

Vernon, B.C., June 16.—Mr. Justice
A. M. Manson in the assize court here today sentenced Clarence "Rusty" Davison to five years imprisonment on each of three charges of breaking and entering, the sentences to run concurrently.

Eric Stanley Hembrough, charged with Davison, was sentenced to three years on each of the three counts, the sentences to run concurrently.

The two were arrested at West
Grand Forks in April and charged with breaking into the Tulameen
Hotel at Princeton on March 22.
At their first trial on June 9 the assize court jury failed to agree on a verdict and was discharged by Mr.
Justice Manson.

FINLAND PAYS ON WAR DEBT

Only Nation Which Sends Sum to United States on June 15 Obligation

Associated Press

Washington, June 16.—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau yesterday announced receipt of Finland's semi-annual war debt payment of $164,- 315.50.

The payment included interest of $145,285 under the funding agreement of May 1, 1923. The balance was the fixed semi-annual annuity under the moratorium agreement of May 23, 1932.

Finland thus maintained its record of being the only government meeting war debt payments to this country as they fell due.

Three other nations gave notification yesterday they were unable to meet the June 15 installment of their war debts.

They were Poland, owing $4,039,039
plus $2,535,988 previously unpaid; Czechoslovakia, owing $1,622,212 in addition to $9,584,149 already in arrears; and Latvia, owing $124,883 in addition to $961,995 already past due.

Two Leaders Made Cardinals

Pope Gives Red Hats to Msgr. G. Mercati and Msgr.
E. Tisserant

Associated Press

Vatican City, June 16.—Pope Pius XI raised two old friends to the princely rank of cardinal yesterday behind the guarded doors of a secret consistory.

The two new princes of the church are Monsignor Giovanni Mercati and Eugenio Tisserant, "bookworm" friends of the Holy Father. The ceremonies were attended by twenty-seven cardinals.

The Pope in an allocution delivered to the assembled cardinals invited the Catholic faithful throughout the world to pray the remainder of his life might be spent in unceasing fruitful work.

LIBRARY WORKERS
Msgr. Mercati came with the Pon-tiff to Rome to take up his duties in the Vatican Library. Msgr. Tisserant has been associated with the library for sixty years.

Hay Fever Cure Attracts Many

Associated Press

London, June 16.—Hundreds of hay fever victims have besieged St.
George's Hospital since they learned a few days ago of a reported cure of the affliction.

The new treatment was completed after five years of research by the physiotherapy department of the hospital and is claimed to be 98 per cent successful.

The hospital has assigned three specialists to treating hay fever sufferers and the cure may be begun by other London doctors.

The cure is based on electrical application of a coating of ionized sine to the sensitive tissues of the nostrils by a process similar to electroplating.

Williams Lake, B.C., June 16.—Bert
Johnson of Springhouse, near here, today was in the hospital with serious injuries suffered at the weekend, when he was thrown from a bucking horse during the Williams Lake rodeo.

After throwing Johnson from its back the horse kicked him in the face, breaking his nose and severely cutting his cheek.

Another horse rolled over his rider, but the man was not injured.

CLAIMS HITLER WANTS CANADA

Canadian Press

Toronto, June 16.—Bernard O.
Schönegge, chairman of the executive council of the empire migration settlement group of London, England, said here yesterday Adolf Hitler had already cast longing eyes on Canadian wheatfields. He declared fertile, unpopulated Canada was an ever-growing temptation for the land-hungry nations of Europe.

Mr. Schönegge, who led the South African Party in Parliament at Capetown as right-hand man to General
J. G. Smuts, 1931-1933, is in Toronto preparatory to conferring with Prime Minister King at Ottawa and Premier Hepburn here on schemes to settle British-born in Canada.

DENIES ANY INTERFERENCE

G. Hooper at Turgeon Inquiry Refutes Suggestion Government Keeping Out Rayon

Canadian Press

Montreal, June 16.—Gordon Hooper, who holds a watching brief at the Turgeon Royal Commission inquiry for the Department of National Revenue, yesterday denied a suggestion placed before the commission at its investigation of the Canadian textile industry, that the Canadian government "might be doing something to prevent entry of Japanese rayons into the Dominion while the commission was sitting."

The suggestion was made by P. R.
Watson, general manager of Groulx's Limited of St. Catharines, Ont. He said he thought Japanese imports were being kept at a minimum because "it may be that the government is not so much interested in the commission is sitting."

Commission Counsel J. C. McRuer questioned Mr. Watson's remarks, saying "it is a serious statement you are making, Mr. Watson," he said, "Have you any information that the government has taken steps to keep any imports out?"

"No, I haven't any definite information, but I merely said it might be doing something," the witness replied.

SAYS ENGLAND NEEDS FRIGHT

Associated Press

London, June 16.—St. Hon.
Alfred Duff Cooper, secretary for war, yesterday prescribed a good case of fright as necessary for the people of the United Kingdom.

"The European situation is far worse than in 1914," Mr. Duff Cooper told a roadbuilders' conference. "It is difficult to persuade our own people of the dangers that lie ahead."

"We are told we should never frighten the people, but it is the duty of those in authority to frighten the people of this country out of their wits."

ASK PACKING INVESTIGATION

Canadian Press

Ottawa, June 16.—Requests have come to the government from livestock raisers to appoint a royal commission to investigate the packing industry. While Hon. W. D. Euler, Trade Minister, was not in the city this morning, it is understood he is giving consideration to the requests.

Complaints have been made that the packers were not paying prices for cattle and hogs as high as the domestic price for meats would warrant. Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction leader, recently pressed this view in a speech in the Commons.

FAMOUS PLAY AT DOMINION

"The Passing of the Third Floor Back" Opens Engagement Today

Genuine artistry marks the GB production of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," starring Conrad Veidt at the Dominion Theatre. Admirers of the play, as done in the old days
by Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, need not fear that it has lost its power. Although modernized and re-touching in places to present it as a drama of the moment, it has lost none of its dignity, none of its emotional intensity. In fact, it is one of the most satisfying dramas of the season.

This is due not only to Conrad Veidt, one of the few actors who could present the character of The Stranger without acting all over the place, and who makes him a humble, believable and totally likeable person, but also to a cast which was picked by Director Berthold Viertel with consummate skill.

William Powell films are noted for supplying something unconventional in the way of romance. Following that tradition, most firmly established by "The Thin Man," the usual relations between lovers are amusingly reversed by the star and his co-star, Jean Arthur, in their mystery comedy, "The Ex-Mrs. Brandford," which opens at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow.

It is the attractive, blonde Miss Arthur who has to do most of the romantic pursuing in this picture, while Powell retreats before her advances.

She gets him so entangled in the investigation of a series of fantastic killings, that he is suspected of being the murderer himself, and has to solve the mystery or "take the rap."

"The Farmer in the Dell," starring Fred Stone and Jean Parker, tells of the adventures of a farmer transplanted in Hollywood by a stupid wife.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

"Chapayev," the Russian Soviet film now showing at the Columbia Theatre was made by the Vasiliev brothers from material supplied by Furmanov, commissar of Chapayev's Red Division. It is the simple story of a peasant who becomes a great military leader under the stress of civil war. A swashbuckling, braggart, in-vulnerable peasant, a friendship, a chorus of Russian voices, a girl machine gunner, fights and excitement enter into the plot of the story.

PLAZA THEATRE

Laurel and Hardy, those two famous and popular comedians of the screen, are to be seen in Victoria this week. They are featured in "Bonnie Scotland," which is now showing at the Plaza Theatre.

Although there is more romance in this picture than is usual in their productions, it does not detract from the comedy situations. To the contrary it serves as a delightful background for their hilarious antics.

Steels and Rails Push Upward At Wall St. Today

Associated Press
New York, June 16.—The steel, rails and selected specialties denoted their climbing clothes in today's stock market, and gains of fractions to three or more points predominated.

The list apparently found stimulation in improved industrial news, with less apprehension over foreign affairs. Transfers were in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 shares.

The congressional tax controversy was said to have kept many traders on the sidelines.

Profit-taking was light throughout. Among the popular issues were U.S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Bethlehem, National Steel, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, N.Y. Central, Delaware & Hudson, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, North American, Radio, United Corporation, Curtiss-Wright, Murray Corp., Chrysler, Deere, Coca Cola, Du Pont, Westinghouse, Firestone, U.S. Rubber, Allied Stores, Associated Dry Goods, Goodyear and U.S. Pipe & Foundry.

Woolworth was up more than a point as sales were currently reported to be running some 7 per cent ahead of last month. J. I. Case was about 8 higher at its best.

There were several losers of a point or so including Douglas Aircraft, Auburn and U.S. Smelting. Low-priced utilities were quite lively in the final half hour.

Wheat rallied for net gains of 1/4 to 1/2 of a cent a bushel and corn was up 1/4 to 1/2. Bonds firmed. Foreign currencies were mixed.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:
Thirty Industrials—156.69, up 0.60.
Twenty utilities—47.30, up 0.80.
Twenty utilities—33.38, up 0.65.

The range of to-day's Dow Jones averages was as follows:

MINE SHARES CLOSE HIGHER

Canadian Press
Toronto, June 16.—The mining section of Toronto Exchange closed irregularly higher today.

Tech-Hughes closed a few cents lower. Beattie and San Antonio closed around 1.48 and 2.50, respectively, for gains of about 1/2 each. Other gains of 1/2 to 7/8 were Chibougamau, Red Lake and Sylvanite while losses of a few came out for Ferron, Macassa, O'Brien, McWaters and McLeod-Cockshutt.

McIntyre, Dome, Lake Shore and Wright-Hargreaves took narrow losses. Hudson Bay eased slightly and Venture dropped a few. Castle dropped about 4 and Eldorado held around 90.

IMPROVEMENT AT MONTREAL

Montreal, June 16.—Renewed demand for a number of previously neglected issues brought gains on the stock market today.

Distillers Seagrams pushed up 1/2 and 23. Minor gains were shown by Canadian Industrial Alcohol A and B while National Breweries eased a little.

Smelters lost 1/2 at 55 1/2 while International Nickel finished steady to a bit firmer. Hollinger and Noranda were even.

Losses of 1/2 each were listed for Montreal Power and Quebec. Brazilian and Shawinigan were up slightly.

Shares of Canada Car. Steel of Canada, Dominion Bridge and Canadian Pacific Railway ruled firmers.

Late Upswing In Wheat Prices On Winnipeg Market

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, June 16.—Belt that irreparable damage had been done to the United States spring wheat crop led to late price rallies in futures on the Winnipeg grain exchange today.

Values closed only 1 1/2 to 2 cent lower, July to 7 1/2, October 7 1/2 to 7 1/2 and December 7 1/2 cents.

Declines of more than two cents a bushel were registered early in the session when the pit was deluged with offerings encouraged by general soaking rains over the Canadian west.

But as reports from the American spring wheat area indicated the rains there had not been heavy, and that crop damage already wrought by drought could not be repaired, the selling dried up.

Gains of nearly a cent a bushel were posted at Minneapolis. Chicago held around the previous closing levels and Liverpool closed 1/4 to 1/2 advanced.

Trading in the cash and coarse grains markets was featureless.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—A young lady is writing me letters in which she pours out her heart to me, telling me how desperately she loves me. She also keeps coming to see me. She says she fell madly in love with me at first sight two years ago. How can I tell if she really loves me, and what difference does it make if she does, or if she doesn't? She has proposed to me. How can I tell whether to say yes or no? Sometimes I think when I see her in the moonlight that I ought to say "yes" and then again I feel as if I should say "no." How can I find out what I think of her? I have never been in love. How do you feel when you are in love? I am a professional baseball player. She thinks I am an all-star, but I'm not. AN UPSET BALL STAR.

Answer—Well, son, when you are all unsettled in your mind over what to do about love and women, the only safe thing is to do nothing. For it is one of the peculiarities of love that you always think that you are about ten times as much in love as you really are, and that the woman who is the object of your affections is far, far more attractive than she is.

So, if you have any doubts at all about the subject, the only prudent thing is to make your escape while the red light is burning over the exit and you can see your way out. And, believe me, son, if the only time the girl looks good to you is in the moonlight, she is not the one for you.

Any girl in a white dress looks desirable in the moonlight, but, alas, there is mighty little moonlight in marriage. It is mostly hard, cruel, prosaic, revealing daylight and you will want a wife who will be just as pretty and kissable in a pink bungalow apron getting breakfast as she was against a romantic background.

Anyhow, you'll have to get used to girls falling for you and writing you mash notes and pursuing you if you are going to be a professional ball player. It is the penalty of your occupation. Somehow there is something glamorous about a football player or a baseball player that girls seem unable to resist, and, inasmuch as you cannot marry all of them, you had just as well begin experimenting on saying "no" to this one. No doubt it will break their hearts, poor things, but it simply can't be helped.

Anyway, take this as a good tip. Marry a girl whom you are crazy about rather than one who is crazy about you. Men do business in marriage on a constantly decreasing capital of affection and so it is important that when they go to the altar they should just be sloshing over with romantic love and enthusiasm and eagerness. The sentiment cools down quickly enough.

And don't let any woman persuade you into marrying her, or weep you into marrying her, or hang herself around your neck until you marry her to get rid of her. A woman who marries a man against his will generally does it because she thinks it is easier to work a husband than it is a type-writer.

When you ask how to tell whether the girl is in love with you or you are in love with her, you ask a conundrum that no one can answer. Many people fool themselves about this important matter and think they are in love when they are not. They mistake a passing fancy for the grand passion. But as long as you are uncertain about your own feelings give yourself the benefit of the doubt and say "no" to the lady.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl of twenty-two, an adopted child. I love my foster-parents dearly and would be happy except for one thing. I am always thinking about my mother and wondering about her. It is a bitter thing to me to know that she abandoned me as a baby, that I wasn't wanted and was in the way, but in every crowd I think—is she there? Is she nice? Does she ever think of me? What does she look like? It is agony to me. Can you give me a better thought about this?

Answer—It is natural that a girl of your sensitive temperament should often think of the mother she has never known. It is part of the idealism with which we surround motherhood and which makes us feel that there is a tie between mother and child closer than any other on earth, that no other heart could be so soft as our mother's, no other love so understanding as hers.

It was said that during the Great War that no matter how old a wounded soldier was, no matter how much he loved his wife, nor how much infatuated he was with his sweetheart, that in the delirium of his sufferings the one he called upon was always Mother. Mother is the one we always need. And so it is not strange that you are forever wondering about this woman who bore you and who forsake you in your helpless infancy.

If you judge her harshly, no one can blame you, but perhaps what seems her cruelty to you was a kindness. It may be that when she gave you for adoption she was desperately poor; that she could not even give you that food and even any way of earning money to support herself and her child and hire someone to take care of it, for almost every door of occupation is shut to a woman with a babe in her arms. Without the child she can begin a new life. With the child, both she and the child are hopelessly doomed to destitution. And so it must seem to such a woman the kindest, as well as the wisest thing, to give the child to those who will love it and care for it, who will give it an honest name and bring it up in a good social environment.

Perhaps your birth was a tragedy. Perhaps your mother was that most pitiable of all human beings—an unwed mother, without money, without protection, without even any way of earning money to support herself and her living. She could not possibly make enough to support herself and her child and hire someone to take care of it, for almost every door of occupation is shut to a woman with a babe in her arms. Without the child she can begin a new life. With the child, both she and the child are hopelessly doomed to destitution. And so it must seem to such a woman the kindest, as well as the wisest thing, to give the child to those who will love it and care for it, who will give it an honest name and bring it up in a good social environment.

But the women who give their children for adoption must go through life mourning them more than if they were dead, and with their hearts torn with a jealousy of the foster-mothers who are knowing the joy of clinging little arms about their necks and listening to the first lisping of Mother.

As for you, my dear, my earnest advice is to talk this matter over with your foster-mother. Tell her just how you feel and ask her to help you, if she can, to find your own mother and let you see just what manner of woman she is. There is no way of laying our ghosts like turning the light upon them.

Furthermore, little as you may believe it now, the chances are a hundred to one that when you find your own mother you will find that she is a stranger to you and that your foster-mother, with whom you have every memory in common, is your real mother.

Uncle Wiggily and the Tennis Racket

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Baby Bunty said to Uncle Wiggily one morning, "Uncle Wiggily—(she was allowed that little bit of baby talk, you remember, 'Uncle Wiggily, I'd like to ask you a favor. And if you think I shouldn't, then I won't.") Uncle Wiggily laughed. "That's rather mixed up, isn't it? Do you mean if I think you shouldn't ask the favor, or that you shouldn't have the favor granted?" "Maybe I mean both," Baby Bunty chuckled. "But I'll ask it anyway, and then you can decide. It's this: I want to go adventuring with you!" "You do, that's the rabbit's gentleman said. 'Now I call that a good idea. Baby Bunty! It's quite a while since you and I went looking for an adventure together, isn't it? You just wait until I get my hat, and we'll start!'" Baby Bunty was so happy at this that she jumped in the air three times. She was afraid, too, that Uncle Wiggily might think she was too young to go adventuring. "But don't worry," Uncle Wiggily said. "Baby Bunty is so much that he was very glad to take her with him. In a short time the two of them started off. They went through the woods, the rabbit girl holding Uncle Wiggily's hand, and looked carefully under bushes and around trees and over hills to see what they could find. But for a long while they found nothing exciting. Baby Bunty sighed. "Maybe it's because I'm with you, Uncle Wiggily. Do you think that could be it?" "Not at all," the bunny man exclaimed. "You're just a little early yet!" And on they walked. And then Baby Bunty was watching the ground, cried, "Oh, Uncle Wiggily—see what I have discovered! It's a set of some kind. On a handle. What's it for, do you suppose?" "That isn't a set," Uncle Wiggily laughed. "It's a tennis-racket! I've seen boys and girls playing with things like that. They hit a ball with it. Someone must have lost this racket. We'll just take it along with us, and maybe we'll find a use for it."
